Defense Line North Of Capital Crumbles

SAIGON (AP) — Spearheaded by tanks, a North Vietnamese division smashed the northern defenses of a key provincial capital city in the central highlands today and drove South Vietnamese forces as far back as 15 miles. New air and sea battles erupted deep inside North Vietnam, in the Gulf of Tonkin and the Gulf of Siam.

Not since the opening day of the current North Vietnamese offensive, when thousands of enemy troops stormed across the demilitarized zone to attack Quang Tri Province, have the North Vitnamese made such advances.

The highlands defense line of Tan Canh and Dak To 25 miles north of the capital, Kontum City, crumbled under the enemy onslaught and a new line was being formed 10 miles north of the capital. Kontum City is said to be the ultimate objective in the 26-day-old North Vietnamese offensive.

A radio message was sent out to the scattered and badly battered South Vietnamese 22nd Infantry Division, which had its forward command post at Tan Canh and a regimental command post at Dak To, to pull back to a new defensive line at Vo Dinh on Highway 14. This is about 15 miles south of Tan Canh and about 10 miles north of Kontum. Other lesser bases and towns crumbled in the path of the North Vietnamese onslaught.

In the air war, the U.S. Command said, about 10 surface-toair missiles were fired at B52 strategic bombers raiding North Vietnam. One of the bombers sustained what the command termed "minor battle damage."

A U. S. helicopter was shot down near Dak To, north of Kontum, and the four crewmen were killed.

Dunagan Governor Of Rotary

WEST PLAINS — Horace Dunagan Jr., Caruthersville, president of the First State Bank in Caruthersville and the Bank of Hayti, is governor - elect of district 609 of Rotary International. He will succeed Dr. Wouter Bosch of Rolla July 1.

Thatcher Scism of Sikeston was chosen district governor of the organization for 1973-74 at the annual Rotary conference over the weekend instead of for 1972-73 as incorrectly reported in Saturday's Daily Standard. W. Z. Baker of Sikeston was chairman of the nominating committee.

Pat Jones, president of the Sikeston Rotary club, presided at a Saturday luncheon meeting of the conference at the high school cafetorium.

Sikeston residents attending the conference were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jobe, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Whitworth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koch, Mr. and Mrs. James Stallings, Mr. and Mrs. Scism and Jones.

Sikeston is making a bid for the 1974 district convention but a site has not been slected for the 1973 convention.

Apollonauts To Head Toward Home Tonight

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 16's explorers fire out of lunar orbit tonight to start the long journey home with a treasure ship of rocks that scientists believe will prove the moon long ago was wracked by volcanoes.

The major finds came Sunday, on the third moon drive that almost was canceled because Mission Control felt the astronauts might be tired and pressed for time as a result of their late landing Thursday night.

They return with 245 pounds of materials which represent perhaps the oldest and most significant samples yet collected on the lunar surface. Locked inside are secrets of how the moon was born more than four billion years ago.

Geologists are certain that John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly got everything they sought during man's fifth moon landing mission, primarily the volcanic evidence.

The astronauts trigger the command ship Casper's big engine at 9:16 tonight to begin the 66-hour, 240,000-mile voyage back to earth. Splashdown is scheduled Thursday in the Pacific Ocean.

The spacemen were awakened this morning after an eight-hour rest to begin the task of moving their hoard of rocks, soil and movie and still film from the lunar module to the command ship.

Later today, the lunar ship will be jettisoned to crash on the moon to activate a seismic device left there by Young and Duke.

The three astronauts were reunited Sunday night after Young and Duke blasted off the moon in the cabin section of the lunar ship Orion and skillfully maneuvered it to a linkup two hours later with Mattingly in Casper.

"What a ride! What a ride!" Duke shouted as Orion blasted away from the mountainous Descartes plateau at 8:36 p.m., EST ending a 71-hour surface expedition during which the moonmen set records for the amount of rocks collected, time on the surface and speed traveled.

Prosecutor Race Assured In Stoddard

BLOOMFIELD — A race officially developed today for the office of Stoddard County prosecuting Attorney when Tom Baker filed as a GOP candidate with County Clerk John Marvin Capps.

McGhee has held the post 11 years. Baker is the first Republican to file for the office since 1930.

Deadline for filing for county offices is Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Thieves Steal Two Cameras

Thieves stole $2,000 worth of camera equipment last night from the trunk of a car belonging to Daily Standard Photographer Bill Hampton.

Three Boat Motors Stolen

MORLEY — An outboard motor was reported stolen over the weekend from the home of Roy Ragains, superintendent of Scott County School District R-5.

Ragains told Scott County Sheriff John Dennis he discovered the six-horse Johnson motor missing Sunday afternoon from a boat parked in his back yard.

Other motors reported stolen over the weekend include a 10-horse Mercury from the Don Saling residence, 413 Powell St., Miner, and an outboard in Jackson.

Dennis theorizes that a thief made a swing through the area over the weekend stealing the motors.

Two out-of-state youths are in county jail in Benton today after being arrested Friday for breaking and entering the Harold Sprenger home in Scott City.

Mike Turner, 19, an AWOL soldier from Salina, Calif., and Richard Coddington, 20, of Dyersburg, Tenn., were accused of entering the home last Tuesday in Scott City through a basement window and stealing $104.

Both men then left for Dyersburg but returned to Scott City Friday. City Marshal Ralph Hays received a tip that the men were at a girl friend's trailer, and arrested them there.

Car Backfire Starts Blaze

CHARLESTON — A call at 5:40 a.m. today sent the fire department to East Marshal Street where a 1967 Ford, driven by Mrs. Delores Hutson, was reported on fire. The fire started when the car backfired through the carburetor. Minor damage to the wiring and motor was reported.

Two Radios Stolen

NEW MADRID — Two radios, one a citizen's band, were stolen Sunday night from a tow boat belonging to the Ralph Anderson Lumber Company.

Value of the CB radio is $300 and the other, $80.

Entry was made by breaking a back door glass.

Car Damaged By Fire

Firemen were called at 6 p.m. yesterday to the Dollie Graham residence at 1031 North Ranney to extinguish a car fire. The fire did minor damage to the car floorboards.

To Order Rollback In Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — The Price Commission will order hundreds of millions of dollars in price rollbacks and customer refunds in the next few weeks, its chairman announced today.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the reason is that the commission's limit on profit margins in beginning to take hold as a second line of defense against inflation.

Grayson, speaking of the matter publicly for the first time in remarks for the annual meeting of The Associated Press, said he hopes the announcement will help rally public opinion behind controls.

"In a very few words I would like to inform you that beginning late last week, the Price Commission inaugurated a series of major actions which will result in hundreds of millions of dollars of price reductions, which will roll back current prices of some of the country's largest companies to their base-period levels."

Meanwhile, Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Counci, told automobile manufacturers not to expect approval of large price increases.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit, Rumsfeld said steel companies' hold-the-price-line pledge "is a significant step in the effort to reduce inflation, a step which should be reflected in the prices of 1973 model cars

Democrats Reform Convention Rules

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 3,103 delegates who will meet in Miami Beach July 10 to vote for a Democratic Presidential nominee will be selected in a bewildering variety of ways.

In 22 states and the District of Columbia they will be chosen in some form of primary election. In 24 states a convention system with established procedures will be used. But in four others, delegates to the state convention which would pick representatives to the national convention, would not be chosen until July 8 or just two days before the national caucus is slated to begin.

More than 60 per cent of the delegates will be chosen under the primary method.

The new rules were drawn up by a reform commission. They did not outlaw favorite-son candidates, but made it more difficult to put the name of such a candidate in nomination.

There are more primary elections than ever this year. They started on March 7 with New Hampshire and will end with New York on June 20.

Of the 23 primaries, 13 will be preferential. In other words, the voter will be able to express directly his choice for President. The 10 others will provide only for a selection of delegates.

In New York, Alabama and the District of Columbia the names of the Presidential candidates will not be listed on the ballot. In most states only Democrats can vote in Democratic primaries, but Alabama, Indiana, Nebraska and Wisconsin permit Republican switchovers.

In California, the statewide winner gets all the delegates, but in Florida and Wisconsin, the candidate who carries each Congressional district gets that district's delegates with the statewide winner getting the at-large delegates.

In North Carolina, the delegates votes will be split proportionately among the four top finishers in the primary.

In Oregon, a candidate's name can be place on the ballot without his permission, but in Wisconsin he may file an affidavit of noncandidacy. In Illinois, a candidate must take the affirmative step of filing.

There is a wide range of methods by which caucuses can be held to select delegates. Vermont, Wyoming, and a few other smaller states have two- tier systems under which town or precinct meetings select delegates to state conventions which in turn name delegates to the national convention.

In some states a precinct primary at which committee members are elected serves for both the selection of party officials and delegates to state conventions.

Eight convention states have two tier systems, while 16 have three- tier systems with meetings at town, county and state levels.

Royalty Reigns At Tour Of Blooms

CHARLESTON — One of the highlights of Sunday's fourth Annual Dogwood-Azalea Festival was the selection of the Little Prince and Princess.

The event, sponsored by the Bridges Merry Mixers Homemakers club in E. Charles Rolwing park, attracted several hundred residents and out-of-town visitors, who toured the floral display at homes in the city.

Leigh Ann Drummond, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drummond of East Prairie, was selected azalea princess and Triston Goodin, 3-year -old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Goodin of Charleston, was crowned azalea prince.

Molly Jean Brown, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pete Dodgen, was first runnerup and Maria Lankheit, five-year -old daughter of Mrs. Margaret Lankheit, was second runnerup to the princess.

Matt Stark, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stark and Jeffrey DeGroot, 4, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Rodney DeGroot, were runnersup to the prince.

State Representative Fred DeField was master of ceremonies. Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Koch and Kenneth Dement, all of Sikeston.

Azalea Queen Sheila Cope crowned the prince and princess, assisted by her attendants, Miss Vickie Miller and Miss Becky Thomason.

Other prince contestants included Carl Bone, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Bone; Mickey Skelton, 3, son of Mrs. Billie Skelton; Brian Feezor, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Feezor; Christopher Allen Wills, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wills; Brice Chapman, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chapman.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We all worry over things that do not concern us, and that are not of the slightest importance.

AND LIKE A CRAB,
WE WOULD CRAWL
BACKWARDS

American businessmen are acutely aware of the social, economic and environmental problems that confront our country. Despite the prophets of doom blowing their brains stockpiling accusations against industry — and whose only contribution toward a solution is like a crab, to crawl backwards — modern management is busy picking priorities, weighing alternatives, seeking answers with the broadest possible applications for the common good.

While the disaster lobby sits wailing for a return to "cave and candle," there is a growing "dynamic center," according to American Can Company's Chairman and President William F. May in a recent address before the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, which "has made poverty a matter of conscience and public policy — not an accepted way of life." It is teaching students that "lending a creative hand will turn out to be a lot more fulfilling than copping out." The dynamic center recognizes "the idiot left and the maniac right" are just as much of a nuisance in science, research, sociology and economics as they are in politics.

"We are the first society in all the world in which the majority is not poor and I suggest that the sense of private responsibility that built this uniqueness represents the most significant revolution the world has ever seen," declared American Can's chief executive. In order to maintain this "uniqueness" we must maintain America's "can do" tradition. We must "sharpen our critical faculties and stop believing everything we hear." We must "put our managers to work evolving new structures to tackle our problems." We must "set our scientists and technologists to work, with the resources they need, to develop safer chemicals for agriculture, and better methods of non-polluting transportation, and better techniques for the recycling or re-use of resources. We will get them to work on breeder reactors and hopefully controlled fusion energy sources and all the other innovative developments that can improve the quality of life."

A certain romantic aura surrounds the idea of "cave and candle." But we think it wouldn't last. There are not enough natural caves to go around, and digging new ones with a piece of shale or a pointed stick would be horribly hard work, much too hard for most of the forecasters of doom. Somewhere, we think some enterprising caveman — out of dim tribal memory or some vision of a brave new world — would re-invent the bulldozer. Then with cave, candle, and bulldozer, we would be on our way once more!

WHY COMPANIES
AVOID MISSOURI

There is a very definite reason why nearly one out of every three members in the building trades union in this area is out of work.

It is simply due to the fact that bad labor practices have priced St. Louis labor out of the market. National firms now avoid the St. Louis area and the entire state like the plague because they have seen how labor unions here have caused stupendous cost overruns by jurisdictional fights, featherbedding, job quota systems, putting hoodlums and incompetents on payrolls, excessive overtime, restrictive labor practices and loafing on the job.

Poor labor productivity was blamed for 70 per cent of the $41,200,000 cost overrun of the first two units of Union Electric Co.'s Labadie power plant.

Actual direct construction labor man hours on Labadia Units 1 and 2 exceeded the engineering estimate of what the job should take by 49.5 per cent!

The Noranda Aluminum Co. has been put through the same labor wringer as Union Electric. Its new plant at New Madrid, Mo., should have cost about $85 million. But due principally to excessive labor costs it wound up costing $106 million. It should have been completed by November of 1970, but was not actually finished until February of 1972.

A member of Laborers Local 282 told a Globe staff writer that he and an operating engineer on the Noranda Aluminum Co. project were assigned to the job of keeping water out of a sump about a foot square and a foot deep.

The operating engineer, he said, plugged in a pump. The laborer bailed about two pails of water out of the hole. The work took about five minutes. For the rest of the day the two workers were told to "hide out in the weeds." At the end of the day one of the pair poured water back in the hole to make certain the job could be repeated the next day.

As bad as these examples are they simply are a continuation of the construction nightmares that have taken place at the Gateway Arsenal, the Poplar Street Bridge and other projects in recent years.

This horrendous record of low productivity and labor abuses now has spread to the point that big companies are passing the word that Missouri is a good place to avoid.

Proctor & Gamble entertained the idea of building a new plant at Cape Girardeau but decided to build it in Georgia instead after learning how St. Louis construction unions botch a job.

Cerro was considering a new plant at New Madrid but flew the coop when it saw what happened to the Noranda Aluminum Co.

This is why the situation will not be corrected until everyone concerned — labor unions, contractors and owners — get together and make reforms that will guarantee that major construction projects are completed on time and close to the estimated cost.

A major portion of the problem is the steamfitters union. Steamfitters are a law unto themselves. They literally dictate their own terms on jobs. Restrictive work practices by the steamfitters are blamed for the fact that it costs five times as much to install 1,000 feet of steam pipe in this area as it does in Baton Rouge, Houston or Texas City.

Until the power of the steamfitters union is broken, there is little hope that the low productivity record of St. Louis trade unions can be greatly improved.

The Circuit Attorney and the grand jury are reported investigating whether hoodlum elements in the steamfitters union ordered the killing of manager Edward Steska because he was cracking down on them by requiring a day's work for a day's pay and only issuing union cards to competent journeymen.

But the power of the fitters is so great that two members of the union still are successfully evading testimony before the grand jury about their knowledge of the Steska killing.

This steamfitter stench thus is permeating the whole construction trade labor market in Missouri.

Reforms must come because the malpractices of labor have now brought unemployement and economic stagnation not only to the St. Louis area but to the state. The only way to change this reputation is to end these labor abuses and raise productivity so that national companies will be convinced that they can build here as economically as any place in the country.

Our attention has just been called to a new book just off the University of Georgia press in which Prof. Robert V. Andelson discusses, among other things, "property rights vs. human rights."

We believe students of history, government, or the social sciences, should make themselves familiar with at least the key passage, which follows:

"It is astonishing to me how many are seduced by the pompous declaration that 'human rights are more important than property rights.' Astonishing, because the semantic fallacy on which this silly and mischievous cliche is based is such a glaring one.

"Not even the most hide-bound capitalist has ever held that property as such has rights. The term 'property rights' refers to one of the most fundamental of human rights; To own property."

Farther along the professor drops this added bit of clarification.

"The rights of property pertain to objects but belong to men."

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

CHICAGO AP) — The ice is in the martini, the coal is in the grill. It's barbecue time again.

The American male is ready to flee again to the great summer pastime of cooking outdoors, and the average man's joy in this pursuit has little to do with the taste of charcoal broiled meat.

When a husband adjourns to the backyard to light and guard the fire, it is probably the only chance he will get all summer to look at the crabgrass and dandelions without being told to pick them.

When the sparks fly from the grill, a father can righteously demand that the little children be kept inside—the only time he can venture outdoors without a band of followers, some of whom inevitably need their diapers changed.

The pleasure of inhaling the scent of a sizzling steak is nothing compared with the one-upmanship gained over the wife who for a few minutes is pleased that she doesn't have to dirty the broiler again or heat up the kitchen. She may be so pleased that she even makes a fresh drink for the cook, a rare occurrence.

The cunning male communing with nature in the backyard must be careful, however, not to confuse the act of barbecuing with the purpose.

The trend to kettle cookers, hibachis, wagon grills and gas barbecues can signal the end of freedom. The male who wants to stand on the patio and watch the televised baseball game through the glass door will have a simple round grill, unshielded from wind or rain.

—"I better not leave it alone, the wind's a little strong."

—"Of course I'd rather talk to you but if I don't watch the grill the kids might sneak out and burn themselves."

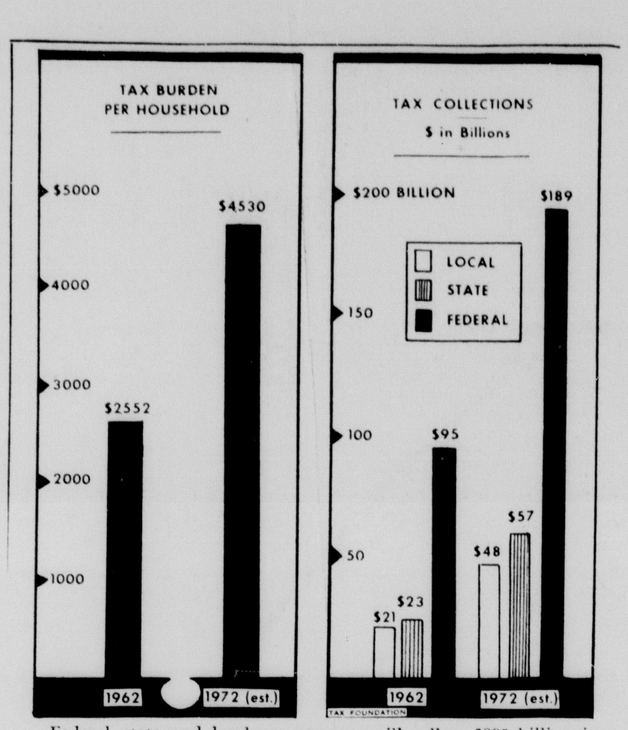

—"I'd lower the volume on the TV but I can't hear it from out here and you know I don't want to get your steak done too well again."

There is an inherent problem in mixing martinis with the ritual of the barbecue. In fact, the amount of Martinis mixed is inversely proportional to the quality of the dinner.

The cunning practioner again knows the shrewdness of offering to cook hotdogs or roasts. With hotdogs you can start over again, with little harassment about the waste.

With roasts you can burn the outside and have it raw on the inside, meaning there's something in-between for everyone.

KEEPING AN EYE
ON SPACE 'TRAFFIC'

Keeping track of some 2,400 stray objects is no mean feat, particularly when they are invisible to the naked eye and scattered over millions of miles of space.

But it is the feat being performed daily to computerized perfection for the past 10 years by men stationed deep inside a mountain outside Colorado Springs who comprise the North American Air Defense Command's Space Defense Center.

This is the nerve center of a world-spanning net of camera-and-radar-equipped tracking stations which feed back information on earth-orbiting objects—up to 16,000 separate reports a day.

Of the thousands of objects out there, less than 500 are payloads, functioning or once-functioning satellites. The rest is junk, useless debris left in orbit by launchings long past. All are important to the center which, before missions such as upcoming Apollo 15, chart the space traffic astronauts will encounter.

Prospects of a collision in space are as yet very remote. Something like a million to one against a mishap. But that could change if the space of launchings continues to pick up in coming years.

The Space Defense Center had its origins in satellite tracking operations set up by the Air Force and Navy after the launching of the Soviet's Sputnik I. In 1961, the spearate facilities were reconstituted at Colorado Springs as the Space Defense Center, which five years later moved into NORAD's Combat Operations Center inside Cheyenne Mountain.

Its primary task for NORAD, the joint U.S.—Canadian military command charged with defending the continent from air attack, is to detect incoming enemy missiles. In the absence of these, the preoccupation with nonmenacing objects in space has been a natural development.

The Space Defense Center enters its second debate this July and as the business is going here and abroad, satellite tracking should be keeping it busier than ever. It is a secondary function, but hopefully the only one the center will ever be called upon to perform.

LINKLETTER URGES PARENTS
TO LEARN ABOUT
DRUG ABUSE

Speaking at the 75th Annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, the famed television star cited some of the more successful programs young people are promoting to fight drug abuse. Mr. Linkletter mentioned volunteer organizations whose teenage counselors give periodic lectures and aid students who need information and help. There shou'd be more such organizations, he says.

Mr. Linkletter's speech before the NAM's membership was entitled "The Role of Business in Drug Control". He urged the industrial leaders to "become the leaders in the fight against drug abuse."

"There is no parent in the United States today of whatever power, wealth, fame, neighborhood, education or religion whose child is not in danger of being tempted to experiment with some kind of drug," he said.

How to solve this menace? Mr. Linkletter urges parents to find out all they can about drug abuse, and then to do everything they can to communicate with their children so that they can help them when necessary and exchange ideas before it is too late.

He makes a special plea to educators who, he says, are often the last to know what is going on in their schools. They, too, must face up to the problem and help eradicate it in the schools.

But it is to the youngsters themselves that he looks for the best solutions. They can turn it off just as easily as they can turn it on, he believes.

WE'D BE AFRAID OF THE VOTERS

No matter how much we wanted it from a selfish standpoint, if we were a Legislator at Jefferson City we would not vote for a proposal that would provide pensions for state officers and legislators, — under the terms of one version, after only four years of service.

The original pension bill provided only for pensions for state employees after a fairly long term of years.

Then someone tacked on the part, that if passed, would also provide pensions for state officers and legislators. If they are pensioned, it should not be until after 15 to 20 years of service.

There isn't a business in the nation that provides pensions after only four years of work.

There should not be at Jefferson City. No one deserves a pension after only four years of work. It is the heighth of the ridiculous to even think about such a provision, and certainly unfair to the taxpayers who will have to pay the pensions.

As we say, we'd be afraid to vote for such an unfair and selfish law, because it could happen that those who vote for it could lose a lot of votes and possibly their jobs.

It is also possible the taxpayers might do as they have done before, force the matter to a vote of the people of Missouri. In that event, we are certain the legislators would learn this is an extremely unpopular measure.

WHILE WE DID NOT read it, we are told that one of our Democratic candidates for President favors personal freedom to smoke marijuana. We didn't care for him in the first place, so this story has no effect upon us. But isn't it strange none of the candidates have much to say about getting our nation back to living within its means and income? And our administration promises only that with the current budget figures, we will go only about 25 billion dollars in the hole. — Shelbina Democrat.

GOVERNMENT AGAINST LIFE

The recently released report of the Federal Commission on Population Growth and the American Future is a blow to all those who respect the right to life and the dignity of the individual, values which have always been a hallmark of our country.

The Commission strongly recommended government actions to reduce population, into a decline. The report itself noted that the U.S. birth rate sharply declined in the first six months of 1971, finding this "somewhat surprising," but concluding nonetheless that population growth is a threat to our country.

The report almost totally ignored the experience of foreign countries. For example, its highest estimates of growth would still leave the U.S. forty years from now with a population density less than half of West Germany, Holland and Belgium today, with their strong economies and high standards of living. Some areas of our country are too congested, but the country as a whole is far from overpopulated.

The only bright spot in the report is the dissent of the Vice Chairman, Grace Olivarez, executive director of Food for All, who says: "Human beings are not returnable items. Every individual has his/her rights, the least of which is the right to life, whether born or unborn. Those with power in our society cannot be allowed to 'want' and 'unwant' people at will....I believe that, in a society that permits the life of even one individual (born or unborn) to be dependent on whether that life is 'wanted' or not, all its citizens stand in danger." Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — A secret Vietnam study, which President Nixon ordered before he was sworn in, warned that the massive bombing of North Vietnam had failed to hamper the enemy war effort.

As President-elect, he had sought hard answers about the war he had promised to end. His foreign policy szar, Henry Kissinger, fired off a series of questions to the key government agencies. The answers caused him to remark afterward: "We found out how ignorant we were."

Kissinger compiled the answers in a bulky National Security Study Memorandum, which became known inside the White House as NSSM-1. A bootleg copy found its way to Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, who has been analyzing it for months. Significantly, he is the same senator who dared to spread the secret Pentagon Papers on the Senate record.

We have also obtained a copy of NSSM-1, which gives a devastation appraisal of the ineffectiveness of ex-President Lyndon Johnson's bombingcampaign.

Four years of bombing, reported the Central Intelligence Agency, "did not seriously affect the flow of men and supplies to communist forces in Laos and South Vietnam. Nor did it significantly erode North Vietnam's military defense capability or Hanoi's determination to persist in the war."

Agreeing, the State Department noted: "There is little reason to believe that new bombing will accomplish what previous bombings failed to do, unless it is conducted with much greater intensity and readiness to defy criticism or risk of escalation."

-B-52 Kill Rate-

Even the Defense Department acknowledged that "the bombing did not significantly raise the cost of the war" to North Vietnam.

The Pentagon estimated that "approximately 52,000 civilians were killed in NVN by US air strikes." The Joint Chiefs and the Defense Secretariat disagreed, however, over how much high explosives it took to kill an enemy.

The Joint Chiefs figured one giant B-52, which could drop 30 tons of high explosives, wiped out an average of 2.5 North Vietnamese on each mission. By this reckoning, it took 12 tons of high explosives to kill a single soldier or civilian.

But the statisticians in the Defense Secretary's office contended that a B-52, on the average, eliminated only 0.43 persons per sortie. If this estimate is correct, 45 tons of explosives were required to dispose of an enemy.

In addition to the casualties, the Pentagon noted: "The bombing undoubtedly had adverse effects on the people of NVN. Individual citizens suffered many hardships ....Food was rationed and consumer goods were scarce; and air raid warnings disrupted the lives of the populace and forced many to leave their homes....."

"Still, there is no evidence to suggest that these hardships reduced to a critical level NVN's willingness or resolve to continue the conflict. On the contrary, the bombing actually may have hardened the attitude of the people and rallied them behind the government's programs."

Concurred the CIA: "There were some indications in late 1967 and in 1968 that morale was wavering, but not to a degree that influenced the regime's policies on the war. The regime was quite successful, however, in using the bombing threat as an instrument to mobilize people behind the communist war effort.

"There is substantial evidence, for instance, that the general population found the hardships of the war more tolerable when it faced daily dangers from the bombing...."

-Bombing Failed-

All the secret estimates agreed that Russia and China were keeping North Vietnam in the war "Whereas the bombing destroyed capital stock, military facilities and current production in North Vietnam worth nearly $500 million," noted the State Department, "Soviet and Chinese aid during this period was nearly $2.9 billion (b), nearly six times as much.

"This high rate of foreign aid, coupled with the relatively low requirements of North Vietnam itself and of NVA/VC forces in the South,goes a long way toward explaining Hanoi's ability to withstand the bombing."

There was general agreement, too, that the bombing had not stopped the flow of outside aid to the battlegrounds.

"Almost four years of air war in North Vietnam." reported the CIA, "have shown-- as did the Korean War--that, although air strikes will destroy transport facilities, equipment and supplies, they cannot successfully interdict the flow of supplies...."

The State Department thought that "interdiction of Haiphong and heavy attacks on the rail lines from China would over time prevent North Vietnam from receiving sufficient ecomomic and military aid to continue the war effort."

But the CIA disagreed: "All of the war-essential imports could be brought into North Vietnam over the rail lines or road from Chins in the event that imports by sea were successfully denied.

"The disruption to imports, if seaborne imports were cut off, would be widespread by temporary. Within two or three months, Nort Vietnam and its allies would be able to implement alternative procedures for maintaining the flow of essential economic and military imports."

WASHINGTON — The latest in French fashions are their revolutionary styles. These are being copied and imported. For the newest "in" thing is French-Type violence -- in act, in rhetoric, in demonstrations, in jargon, in organization, in street terror in appeals to the new "Socialist" youth.

Unhappily there are observers, fully aware of intelligence reports, who see all this as a children's hour. It isn't. It's all aimed at disciplined street action, urban guerrilla warfare, stormy rallies and riots.

There are those in this miasma of young revolutionists who still dream of the April 1968 riot here which, according to an FBI report, cost $55 million in business losses and damaged property. Some 1,600 businesses were hit or completely destroyed.

It doesn't take much of a cadre to set sections of a city, or a union meeting, or a campus mass rap session emotionally aflame. The style was set in Paris last month, when one youth of a band of but 15 or 20 was killed storming an auto plant gate. American Embassy officials say that almost 100,000 flowed into the streets in a sympathetic surge at the funeral.

It takes only handfuls -- and their names are legion. In Paris, when I was there recently, I ran into units of the non-violent Trotskyite Alliance Marxiste Revolutionnaire: the violent Maoist Trotskyite workers power outfit called Ligne Rouge: the anarchist Organisation Communiste Ligertaire; the tough Organisation Revolutionnaire Anarchiste; the conglomerate workers' left-wing units called the Secours Rough; and the Maoist l'Humanite Rouge.

There is the Ligue Communiste, which is the Trotskyite global Fourth International dedicated to violent world revolution. It is part of the tough hard-core united front of street actionists, factory raiders and riot specialists.

They are part of an international committee -- and are as good a starting pad as any for import reports on revolutionary styles. They have comrades or cell headquarters in the U.S. -- in New York, Hartford, Madison, Wis., some Canadian cities and the San Francisco Bay area. They have a small pad in San Francisco itself, telephone, literature and some eager young men and women.

Once they were in the official Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party. Then they split and organized thenselves into the American Committee of the Fourth International back about 1964. This is what's called a Trotskyite splinter group. There are scores of splinter groups buried in the intellectual casbahs of America's big cities, especially some university towns.

Then they became the Workers League. Cynics can say it's the children's charade, not a revolutionary parade. This is what was originally said of the Weathermen, the violent SDS faction, until bursting bombs proved them quite a bloody serious matter.

They have money. They operate a network of small but active cell-like offices right across the land from New York's West Side to San Francisco. They publish a weekly 20-page tabloid, spritely written, edged with revolutionary phraseology. No one on the outside appears to know whence the money comes.

But it is there in sufficient sums to keep them in red hot newsprint. They write enviously of the young Maoist who was killed recently by a guard outside the Parisian Renault plant.

And they talk, when in their headquarters, of the revolutionary peoples: "armies" such as the Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army which "executed" the 56-year-old Fiat general manager, Oberdan Sallustro, in a Buenos Aires proletarian hideaway.

They talk of the kidnapping of a Renault executive in a Paris suburb. And there is no bravado. They are ultras. So much so they charge the American Communist Party with being "an agent of the bourgeoisie in defense of Capitalism."

The Workers League leaders, now building a "Young Socialist" movement in the Midwest, think little more of the officail Trotskyite (Socialist Workers) Party then they do of the official (Stalinist) Communist Party.

They want cooperation with the revolutionary section of the dissident Black Panther Party. They seek out inmates who have been "attending" daily revolutionary classes in the major prisons.

The "ultras" send their cadres into the longshoremen's districts on both coasts. into garment union meetings, and whip up taxi union rallies into a frenzy, for example. They roam the streets of the capital. They're on New York's docks, close by their Eastern headquarters. They have a San Francisco office which covers the East Bay area. And they work with ultras of the SDS Weathermen at the Universities of Toronto and Montreal.

There are other revolutionists. They are surfacing. They talk of "hitting" plants of corporations in defense work or with branches in South Africa. It matters not to them whether they can smach a gate. It matters only if they can produce a martyr and a bloody, costly riot.

'Sticks And Bones,' 'Two Gentlemen' Top Tony Winners

The top drama was "Sticks and Bones," written by 31- year- old Vietnam veteran David Rabe. "Two Gentlemen," written by John Guare and Mel Shapiro, was named the best musical.

The top acting awards for musical performance presented during Sunday night's ceremony went to Alexis Smith of "Follies" and Phil Silvers, who arrived just two weeks ago in a revival of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Cliff Gorman of "Lenny" and Sada Thompson of "Twigs" garnered the top drama acting prizes.

Supporting musical awards went to Larry Blyden, also in "Forum," and to Linda Hopkins, who appeared in "Inner City", which closed three months ago.

In the drama supporting categories the winners were Vincent Gardenia of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" and Elizabeth Wilson of "Sticks and Bones."

"Sticks and Bones" is the story of a blinded soldier returning home from the war to his family. "Two Gentlemen" is a lighthearted romp through the Shakespeare comedy. It moves to rock and Latin American beats and blues type jazz. Guare and Shapiro shared a Tony for their book.

The honors for the two shows were a double victory for the lively theatrical organization headed by Joseph Papp. He originally produced both shows — off Broadway.

"Follies," a musical that opened a year ago but was eligible for consideration now under Tony deadline regulations, won seven silver medallions in the 18 competitive categories, the most for a single production.

By coincidence the ceremonies took place on the 408th anniversary of Shakespear's birth. His posthumous assist to 1972 creativity was the only overseas tinge amid all the presentations. For the first time in many years all the awards were won by Americans.

Tony recipients in other competitive categories were: musical score, Stephen Sondheim, "Follies:." musical director, Harold Prince and Michael Bennett, jointly, "Follies;" choreographer, Bennett, "Follies;" play director, Mike Nichols, "The Prisoner of Second Avenue." Three other "Follies' awards were to Boris Aronson, scenic design; Florence Klotz, costumes; and Tharon Musser, lighting.

Special awards for distinguished accomplishment through long careers were presented to musical star Ethel Merman and composer Richard Rodgers, both of whom participated in quick- tempo reprises of conspicuous triumphs. Harold Prince got a medallion citation on behalf of "Fiddler on the Roof," which on June 17 becomes the longest running show in Broadway history. Also honored was the Theater Guild- American Theater Society which supervises subscription bookings for shows on tour.

Court Sidesteps Auto Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today stepped out of a suit by 18 states against big auto manufacturers and concluded that nationwide pollution cases are best handled by lower courts.

The immediate effect of the unanimous decision is to slow a drive by the states to force the manufacturers to install antipollution equipment in all 85 to 100 million autos built by them between 1953 and 1969.

Justice William O. Douglas, who generally takes the lead in urging the court to expand its docket, delivered the ruling saying that while the 18 states have the Constitution on their side, their suit, for practical reasons, belongs before lower courts.

The suit charges General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors with conspiring to delay the development and introduction of antismog devices. The states said they began their suit in the high court because if they had begun at the lowest level of the judiciary system it might take 10 years to reach a final settlement.

Douglas did not comment directly on this point, although he said in a footnote that a similar suit already is under way in a U.S. district court in California.

As for pollution cases generally, he wrote, it makes more practical sense to put them to district courts because local conditions are an important factor in the final judgment.

However, Douglas said, "the proposed complaint plainly presents important questions of vital national importance" and "our jurisdiction over the controversy cannot be disputed."

The government dropped its own antitrust suit against the automakers in 1969. A consent decree restrained the four companies and a fifth named defendant, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, from any future conspiracy.

In other action, the court:

—Tossed out a test case which could have altered the Miranda decision governing the use of confessions. The court agreed with attorneys for a Pensylvania man that his murder trial should not be reviewed because a state supreme court decision which placed his case under the Miranda rule was based in part on state law, thus placing it beyond the federal high court. The 1966 Miranda ruling invalidates confessions unless the accused has first been informed of his rights to remain silent and to have an attorney present.

Boys Town Cash Drawer Reported Flowing Over

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — Boys Town, the unique home founded 55 years ago for orphans, has more money than it knows what to do with, a published report says.

The Sun Newspapers of Omaha, in a copyright report, says Boys Town has a net worth of at least $209 million— possibly much more. Fund-raising activities bring in $25 million a year, more than four times what is spent caring for the residents, the weekly newspaper says.

The article says that Boys Town had debt-free wealth of $191.4 million in its 1970 report, while its U.S. census listed 993 men, women and children in the city on the western edge of Omaha. The figures would provide an average wealth of more than $191,000 per person, the newspaper says.

The institution, with its 1,300acre campus, floundered financially, the article said, through most of the 30 years it was headed by the late Msgr. E. J. Flanagan, its founder in 1917. But by his death in 1948, money had begun to come in and Father Flanagan had it pledged to pay off a major plant expansion.

Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, who has headed Boys Town since 1948, has concentrated on fund raising, with the result, the newspaper said, that Boys Town is bringing in millions, while there is no plan for spending the money.

In addition to donations, the newspaper said, Boys Town receives public funds from at least three state and two federal programs, amounting to perhaps $200,000 a year.

The newspaper said the income from Boys Town's $162million investment portfolio brings in more than enough each year to meet the cost of operating the home, including the school, counseling services and all related activities.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Daniel E. Sheehan of Omaha, whose clerical office makes him the chief officer of the institution, reported Sunday that the Boys Town spring fund drive has been discontinued, but no decision has been made on the Christmas fund-raising effort.

Archbishop Sheehan said the decision was made either last December or early in January and was not a result of the Sun Newspapers' report.

The newspaper said it drew much of its financial information from a statement the nonprofit corporation must file with the Internal Revenue Service under the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

Five Drown In Boating Accident

CENTREVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A Sunday outing turned into gragedy when five persons downed in a boating mishap at the lake of Frank Holten State Park near East St. Louis, Ill.

Three of the victims were children and one was a man who swam toward them in a rescue attempt. A passerby was able to save two occupants of the 12-foot boat by throwing a rope to them.

State police said the boat was designed to carry three persons but had six in it. It began taking water about 75 feet from shore and then submerged.

The victims included:

Tina Summers, 12, of East St. Louis; a neighbor, Teresa Cantrell, 9; Cynthia White, 9, who lived at the MacArthur Hotel in St. Louis; Charles A. Funley, 30, a resident of the same hotel and Fremont Clayton, Jr., 48, a maintenance man at the hotel who owned the boat. He drowned while swimming out to save the others.

The two saved are Paul White, 45, father of one of the victims drowned, and Cynthia Summers, 13, whose sister, Tina, also drowned.

College Funds Decided

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's colleges and universities will have more money to operate on beginning July 1 than they had this year, but none got the full appropriations requested.

The legislature approved about 5.56 per cent more from tax money to operate the four campuses of the University of Missouri in appropriations approved Saturday night, but granted less than the governor had recommended.

The University of Missouri will receive $95 million of its requested $112.9 million in tax money plus $49.2 million from other funds beginning July 1 through June, 1973. The governor had recommended $97.6 million.

Last year the university was appropriated $89.9 million tax dollars of its total $138.3 million budget.

Other colleges will receive appropriations from tax money as follows:

Lincoln University — $3.1 million, the governor's recommendation.

Missouri Southern State College at Joplin — $1.7 million, the governor's recommended amount.

Missouri Western State College at St. Joseph — $1.7 million, the amount recommended by the governor.

Northeast Missouri state college at Kirksville — $6.1 million. The conference committee added $126,000 to the governor's recommendation.

Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville — $5 million. The conference committee cut $84,000 from the senate's recommendation, but restored the appropriation to the governor's recommendation.

Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau — $7.3 million, the same as the governor recommended.

Southwest Missouri State College at Springfield — $9.6 million, the governor's recommended amount.

GOP Field Swells To 5

He is challenging Rep. R. J. "Bus" King of Clayton, State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond of Mexico, St. Louis County Pros. Gene McNary and Harvey E. Euge of St. Louis. There are 11 Democrats in the race.

Burns, 57, a real estate man, also ran for governor unsuccessfully in 1952.

Burns, who is serving his third term in the House, described himself as a fiscal conservative and predicted "this is the year Republicans can win the governor's office. Democratic bumbling and excesses for far too many years have disgusted the people of Missouri to the point they are ready for a major change."

He said his would not be an "image campaign" but would concentrate on "the real gut issues." He listed four major points in his platform:

Federal revenue sharing, effective means to stem juvenile crime which he called Missouri's No. 1 priority, protection of public and private pension and retirement plans from being dissipated by bad management and d eveloping Missouri's inland waterways commerce.

Major Issue Pending As Legislature Nears Close

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — With budget bills out of the way, the Missouri Legislature went into its final week today with some major issues still pending.

Work on bills has to end next Sunday. The Senate was scheduled to resume work at 2 p.m. today and the House at 4 p.m.

Senate leaders are driving toward action on a revised version of a constitutional amendment to reorganize the executive department—the so-called "Little Hoover" plan.

It is ninth down on the Senate's docket of bills for debate and if the revamped version gets by the Senate, it would still have to be considered by the House.

Also high on the Senate list is a House-passed bill to lower the blood alcohol content from .15 of 1 per cent to .10 of 1 per cent for a driver to be considered intoxicaeed. The Senate passed a similar bill earlier.

Far down the Senate list is the so-called "sunshine bill" to require open meetings for public bodies. The Senate Judiciary Committee changed the bill drastically and if it should be reached in the final days, it would still rqquire House action.

Several other proposed constitutional amendments are pending and could be brought up at any time in the House.

One changes voter residency requirements to conform with federal law and at the same time gives full adult rights and responsibilities to 18-year-olds.

Another would abolish the present two-term system for governors and go back to the old rule that a governor could serve only one four-year term.

If passed by the House, both would have to go back to the Senate for consideration of House changes.

Dozens of local and minor bills could cause delays in either house but Democratic leaders of both houses have said they are determined to clean up all remaining major legislation before the automiatic adjournment deadline.

Collegians Favor Dowd

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri gubernatorial candidate Edward Dowd scored highest in voting Sunday among those attending a statewide convention of College Young Democrats.

Dowd got a reported 59 per cent of the votes to 24 per cent for Joseph Teasdale. Lt. Gov. William Morris got 13 per cent. Some participiants did not vote.

Ten colleges were represented at the annual convention. Bob Haslag, a native of Springfield, Mo., and now a law student at St. Louis University, was elected president of the Young Democrats.

In voting for lieutenant governor, candidate Jack Schramm got 87 per cent of the votes while James Godfrey got 13 per cent.

In the voting for state treasurer, the Young Democrats gave Larry Carp 38 per cent of their votes while E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell got 33 per cent.

None of the presidential candidates received a majority of the votes. George McGovern got 39 per cent, Hubert Humphrey 30 per cent and Edmund Muskie 15 per cent.

Hospital Bed Needs Will Be Doubled

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Cape Girardeau will need to double the number of hospital beds within the next 10 years, members of the Southeast Missouri Hospital Association were told at the annual meeting.

Dr. Jean A. Chapman, president of the hospital medical staff, made the forecast based on the growing number of doctors coming here to practice.

He said three physicians were added to the hospital's medical staff last year, two others have joined this year and at least two more will join soon. He said each additional physician needs 10 to 20 beds for his patients.

Southeast Hospital is now engaged in a 64-bed expansion, largely for its maternity section, while St. Francis Hospital expects to proceed this summer with construction of a new hospital on a site on Mount Auburn Road in the west part of the city. It, however, will provide no additional number of beds.

McBride-Groves

CHAFFEE — Miss Patricia Ann Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Groves, and Dan Leroy McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McBride of Chaffee exchanged wedding vows Feb. 9 at St. Ambrose Catholic Church.

Mrs. Janna Hodge, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Miss Paula Miskell was the bridesmaid.

Miss Diana Uhrhan, flower girl, was dressed in pink and she and attendants carried carnations.

Rusty McBride was best man and Jackie Atkins, groomsman.

Jackie Blankenship and George McBride Jr., seated guests.

The bride was given away by her father, Ollie Groves. Bouquets of gladiolas decorated the Altar and Patricia placed a bouquet of carnations on the Blessed Virgin's Altar.

Kidney Problem Solved

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the letter in your column from the guy with the bashful kidney it made my whole day. It's good to know I'm not the only one in the world with such a kooky problem. I'd like to help my afflicted buddies by sharing a gimmick that helped me cope with the situation. It was suggested by my high school football coach. The idea is to get your mind off yourself and on to something completely unrelated. The way to do it is to WHISTLE your favorite tune. Mine was "Lulu's Back in Town."

A few years ago I was in a large office building in a strange city. I started out for the men's room and couldn't find it. I did go by a ladies' room, however, and seeing as how my kidneys were killing me I decided to chance it. I ducked into one of the alcoves, which, of course, had a door on it. At that very moment I heard another person come in. I started to whistle "Lulu's Back in Town." The voice next to me yelled, "I hate that tune!" So I immediately switched to "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." She shouted, "That's better." So "Swanee" has been my tune ever since.

If you print my letter please don't use my name or initials. I'd never hear the end of it. Thanks, Ann. — Bashful Kidney In Minneapolis

Dear Bashful Kid: "Swanee River" is somehow a more appropriate selection. Thanks for your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: My son is 58 years old. He had a stroke last year and is partially crippled. His insurance and early retirement money takes good care of him so he has no financial problem.

The woman he wants to marry is 43 years of age. She has four children. One child is still at home with her -- a 15-year-old boy. I am against this marriage but I cannot persuade my son I am right. I don't believe it would be fair to a 43-year-old woman to marry a man who can't give her the physical pleasures she is entitled to. I have not discussed this with him because it is not a subject for a mother and a son. But it bothers me a great deal. The woman is very cool toward me because she knows I am against the marriage. They seem to get along fine together but I'm afraid after they are married it will be a different story. What do you think? — Louisiana Reader

Dear Lou: I think a 58-year-old man does not need his mother's permission to get married. Also, you don't know what their personal life is like and it's none of your business. It might be better than you think. You should be pleased that your son has found a woman he wants to marry -- and who wants to marry him. Stop trying to undermine the situation and wish them luck.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old college student and I can't believe the things people write to you about. The letters I read in the papers seem so absurd -- for example, the 14-year-old girl who fell in love with the bus driver, and all those idiots who fall for married men. Do you believe they are real? My hunch is that they are from a bunch of clowns who are trying to get their letters in the paper. Level with me, Ann. Don't you think the people who write to you are a little weird? — GMG In Kalamazoo

Dear G.: The other guy's problem sounds a little weird until something similar happens to you. If you haven't seen yourself in the column yet, keep reading. You will. Suddenly other people's problems will seem a lot less nutty.

Is an upcoming wedding driving you bananas? Ann Landers' comprehensive booklet, "The Bride's Guide," gives you the facts from the initial announcement to the last bill and who should pay it. To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin.

East Prairie Woman Records First Religious Album

"IT'S IN MY HEART", a stereo album of religious music, will be released in May by Mrs. Marshall Larkins of the Dorena Community.

EAST PRAIRIE — "I've been singing all my life," Mrs. Marshal Larkins, homemaker and mother of two, said.

She has recorded her first album of religious music, answering requests from friends in churches in Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The idea began nearly 15 years ago when she accompanied her husband, a lay minister, to churches in the four-state area. "Friends would ask me why I didn't record an album, but the time and money was not available until recently," she said.

While in Kennett a few weeks ago on business the couple stopped in at a recording studio and after receiving encouragement from the studio manager she came home and began six weeks of working preparing arrangement with her accompanists, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, organist and Mrs. JoAnn Wolford, pianist.

"That was the hardest day's work I have ever done in my life," she said referring to the eight-hour taping session. "I was pleased and shocked when I heard the play back." "That was the first time I have ever heard myself on tape that I was really satisfied with the way I sounded," she said.

The album, titled "It's in My Heart," will be released in May by Mission Record Company of Nashville.

Included on the stereo album are "The Holy City", "The Way He Loves", "You Can Have a Song in Your Heart," and seven other of her favorites songs. Two of the numbers will be duets with Mrs. Larkins singing both soprano and alto parts. The record will be sold in stores and through churches.

Mrs. Larkins, the former Doris Jones, was born and reared in the East Prairie area. She and her husband, who is a farmer, and their son, Timothy, 13, and daughter, Robin, 9, live in the Dorena Community. They attend the Dorena Baptist church, where she has been pianist 15 years. Both children take piano and Robin often sings with her mother at church services.

Mrs. Larkins is often asked to sing at weddings, and funerals and revivals.

"If I am convinced that the people who have been wanting me to make this album are sincere and they do buy it, then I will make another one in the future," was her reply when asked about her plans. "I love to sing."

Bader-Moore

DEXTER — Miss Helen Elizabeth Bader and Danny Earl Moore were married, April 8 at 2 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. William A. Huggins officiated a the ceremony before an altar setting of white daisies and snap-dragons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Bader, Route 2, Dexter, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Baker, Campbell.

The bride selected a gown of white crepe with embroidered flowers on the bodice and full sleeves accented with wide cuffs. The slight A-line skirt had a self train and she wore a cathedral length veil of white illusion bordered in lace. She carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Miss Marcella Bader was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Bader, both sisters of the bride. Miss Toni Stause, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Best man was David Daniels and Kirby, Wilson served as groomsman. Stan Sullivan, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer andushers were Gordon Payne and Norman Stause.

The bride attended Dexter high school, graduating in 1966 and his a 1970 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau. The bridegroom graduating from South Pemiscot high school in 1965 and is employed by Monsanto Chemical Company in St. Louis The new Mrs. Moore is employed with the North County R-1 school district in Desloge where she instructs elementary physical education.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Hall.

Following a honeymoon in Memphis the couple will live in St. Louis.

Glenda Reynolds' father is a peanut farmer in Clayhatchee, Alabama. And, until she tried Ayds®, Glenda was the fattest peanut in his crop. 197 pounds of meat with very little shell.

When she was only nine, she met her future husband, Steve, at her uncle's wedding. He was the bride's brother, so they saw a lot of each other over the years. Maybe that's why he never really noticed her weight. But she did. She kept promising herself she was going to reduce. Instead, she married Steve and gained even more.

They lived in a trailer next to her parents' home, and since she worked, her mother cooked for them. How they ate! There were big feeds at Steve's folks, too. Then one day she sat down in her platform rocker and it gave way. Cracked right in half. Steve broke up, too. He laughed and laughed. But Glenda didn't think it was funny.

Fortunately, right after that she read one of those stories about a woman who'd lost weight with the help of Ayds Reducing Plan Candy. So she bought a box. It contains vitamins and minerals but no drugs, no artificial sweeteners. You take one or two Ayds as directed and it helps curb your appetite. On the Ayds Plan you automatically eat less because you want less, so you lose weight naturally.

Glenda Reynolds lost 66 pounds on the Ayds Plan. And, of course, she's received all sorts of compliments. But she feels the nicest one came from her younger brother. He said to her husband: "I'd marry a fat girl anytime if she'd turn out like Glenda."

Dexter Scout-O-Rama Held Saturday

DEXTER -- The Sioux District Boy Scouts of America held their annual Scout-O-Rama Saturday at the Armory from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Twelve troops, including Cub and Boy Scouts, displayed exhibits of all phases of scouting.

A pine wood derby race was held. Those Cub Scouts entering built the cars. The winner, Steven Cain of Gray Ridge, was presented a trophy.

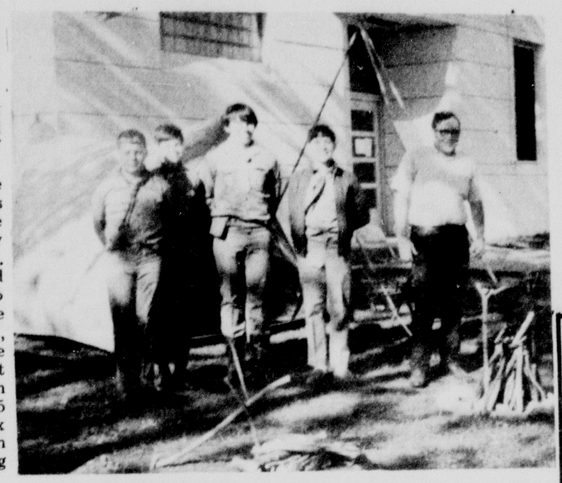

Proceeds from tickets sold to the event will go back into the projects of troops in the district. John Chamberlan, Dexter Cub Scout, sold the most tickets out of the district and was presented a television set. Chamberlan sold 235 tickets. Greg Triplet of Essex and Gray Ridge Pack 171 won a tent as second place selling 105 tickets.

The Essex and Gray Ridge pack presented a puppet show during the afternoon and the Bernie Troop 78 fired rockets which they had made. Malden Troop 76 displayed bird houses and construction.

Blue Ribbons were presented to Bloomfield Troop 72; Pack 171, Essex- Gray Ridge, and Pack 70 of Dexter.

Area towns participating were Essex, Gray Ridge, Dexter, Malden and Bernie.

Extension Clubs Hold Achievement Meeting

The Scott County Extension Association held its annual achievement meeting at Security National Bank. Mrs. Harold Rogers, president, presided.

Mrs. Larry Harshbarger, program chairman, introduced Norman "Sam" Swan, International Farm Youth Exchange student of Cape Girardeau County.

Swan told of his six months stay in Ceylon, using colored slides, to illustrate his talk. He lived with families and joined in their work and recreation as one of them.

"The women do most of the work, such as harvesting of rice and tea," Swan said. "Tea is their main beverage, with rice and curry as their principal food. The raising of coconuts is an important crop, with a tree producing a crop every two months."

Ceylon marriages are arranged by the parents of the young people. The parents of the girls must give a dowery to the husband to be when she is married.

Swan's objective while in Ceylon, was to promote understanding, and peace between the nations. His closing comment was "Le there be Peace."

Tom Stroup, Scott County extension director, was in charge of the awarding of standards. Certificates were presented to 11 clubs.

The Production Credi Association Achievement Awards for clubs with outstanding accomplishments in their club and community was presented by Ken Williams.

Clubs receiving awards were Oran Better Homes and Children, president Mrs. Tom Moroni; Scott City Better Homemakers, president Mrs. John Ashcratt; Lusk Extension Club, president Mrs. Harry Showmaker; McMullin Extension Club, president Mrs. Jim Burris; New Hamburg Extension Club, president Mrs. Joseph Heuring; Sikeston Extension Club, president Mrs. Cecil Boyer; Sikeston Young Homemakers, president Mrs. Melvin Cokenour; and Benton Town and Country Homemakers, president Mrs. Paul Pattengill.

A skit of what might have happened at the first club meeting in Scott County was presented by the McMullin members. The McMullin community was the first to organize an extension club in Scott county in 1932. The club was known as the "Friendly Neighbors". There were eight charter members, with two of the members, Mrs. Eula Minner and Mrs. James Marshall still active in the McMullin club. Another charter member was present, Mrs. Eva Altom, of Sikeston.

The meeting closed with the viewing of exhibits of creative handwork displayed by the clubs.

District Sew With Cotton Winners Named

DEXTER — The 12th annual District Sew With Cotton Style Show was held Saturday at the high school with 130 girls competing in six categories displaying garments of 100 percent cotton. Eight counties represented were New Madrid, Butler, Stoddard, Dunklin, Mississippi, Pemiscot, Ripley, and Scott Counties.

Three top winners were chosen in each category from the 956 girls who had entered county contests.

Contestants received training in modeling under the direction of Mrs. Elsi Boaz, director of the Patricia Stevens School of Modeling, Memphis. Mrs. Velda Rankin, clothing specialist of the University of Missouri, Columbia, presented a program to the leaders and parents titled "Careers in Clothing." Mrs. Wendell Crosby, youth assistant gave a program for the girls not participating in the regular program titled "Posture on Parade".

Mrs. Helen Lawler, Cooter home economics instructor was in charge of the style show at 1:30 p.m. with the theme "Cotton Springs into Fashion."

Winners announced in the Junior Miss Class with Experience including 13, 14, and 15- year- olds, were Linda Brigance, first place, Dunklin County, Vanessa Gibbs, second place, New Madrid County, and Patricia Pennington, third place from Ripley County.

Top winners in the Open Class event, which included suits, dresses, or pant suit ensembles, were Paula Siebert, first place, Scott County, Dianne Lawler, second place, Pemiscot County, and Virginia Rideout, third place,Ripley County.

There was confusion during the girls class of 10, 11, and 12- year- old girls when the awards were given to the wrong contestants. Winners of the division were LaRue Campbell, first place, Scott County, Cindy Nance, second, Ripley County, and Lisa Westrich of Scott County with third.

In the junior miss class with no experience winners were Cindy Culbertson, Stoddard County, first place; Joyce Alane Stroup, Scott County, second, and Kersi Keasler of Stoddard County, third.

Marlene Gosche of Scott County received first place in the sportswear division for girls 13 and over. Peggy Wooldridge of Butler County received second place and Dorthy Heuring won third place for Scott County.

Chosen were three girls to represent Missouri in the Mid South Cotton Conference, in Memphis during March of 1973. These girls will be Marlene Gosche of the sportswear division from Scott County, Marilyn Lipford, Mississippi County, and Linda Langdon of Dunklin County, both of the misses class.

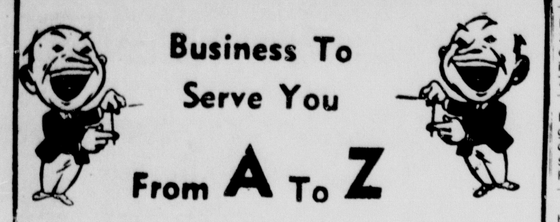

The program was sponsored by the National Cottonseed Products Association, Inc., and the Mississippi Valley Oil Seed Processors Association of Memphis, Tennessee, the Kennett Oil Mill, Inc., of Kennett, and the Sikeston Cotton Oil Mill, Inc., of Sikeston cooperating with the Administration of the high schools and home economics departments and the University of Missouri Extension Division.

Earl Braswell

One of the most widespread and strongly held superstitions about water still survives in the Wishing Well. In pagan days, when the well was possessed by a nymph or sprite, offerings were thrown into or left near it. The maker of the offering prayed to the water sprite for some favor or help to be granted because of the gift. As faith in multiple gods waned, the offering became a token gift, then prayer and finally a wish.

Your wish for sparkling, refreshing drinking water can easily be realized. Your lucky day is the day you install a Miracle Water water refiner. These refiners are engineered to handle most all hard water problems with ease. For a low cost, practical way of enjoying good water, phone

Mail Box

Dear Editor:

I think I have figured a way to beat Internal Revenue Service and get by with it. When I.R.S. starts to investigate us, don't panic, don't burn your records or send them out with the trash, that's against the law.

All you gotta do
From I.T.T. and you will see
It's much better to use a shredder
A little shenaigan
from Peter Flannagin
And then some Fixin
by a man called Nixon Donate some cash for a Republican bash
And then by cracky they'll all be happy.

The Prayer
from
The Upper Room

I am a free man and own no master; but I have made myself every man's servent, to win over as many as possible. -- I Corinthians 9:19.

PRAYER: O Christ open us toward that new age which moves in on us. Open us toward one another and thus toward God, the Father of all and the Lord of all history. Amen.

Q—How long do dreams last?

CITIZENS LOBBY TO CONDUCT OPEN MEETING PETITION DRIVE

JEFFERSON CITY -- The newly formed Citizens Lobby will announce this week it has collected sufficient funds to start an initiative petition drive to take the issue of open meetings to the voters.

The governmental reform organization announced April 13 the drive would start if $5,000 could be raised, and an extensive statewide telephone campaign over the past two weeks has obtained the needed donations.

"We're definitely going with it," Ray Appleton, the group's executive director, said last week. "The response has been fantastic."

The lobby's goal is to collect about 100,000 signatures by July 6 so that the measure, in the form of a constitutional amendment, can be placed on the November ballot. That is a major task for the fledgling group, but Appleton is optimistic.

"I really think we're going to do it," he said. "I base my optimism on the numbers and kinds of people calling and volunteering to carry petitions. We've got support all over the state."

The group's decision to start the drive was triggered by the Legislature's apparent failure to pass an open meetings bill this session. The House passed a heavily amended version of the so-called Sunshine bill, but it is far down the Senate calendar in the form of a Senate committee substitute with little chance of reaching the floor before the April 30 adjournment.

But even if the Legislature passes an open meetings bill, the lobby plans to go ahead with the petition drive because of loopholes in both versions under consideration.

"The present versions are very weak, too weak to be acceptable," Carl Wilson, the lobby's chairman, said. "The public shouldn't have to accept a compromise."

Wilson is particularly critical of provisions in both bills which would allow votes in legislative committees to reamin secret unless the measure being considered is passed out of committee.

Under present rules, votes are made public only when committees formally recommend passage or defeat. Informal votes to kill or lay over a bill are not released.

The lobby's amendment would alleviate this practice by requiring that "any meeting of any public governmental entity" be open. This includes all legislative committee meetings, Wilson said, and all votes would have to be made in public.

Unlike the bills debated this session, the lobby's proposal does not exclude any public meetings from the open- door requirement. It does, however, state that the amendment shall not affect constitutional or statutory provisions concerning "criminal proceedings against an individual, or which pertains to the legitimacy, illegitimacy, adoption, mental health, Physical health, scholastic gradation, or filed taxation statement of an individual."

The amendment also would provide that public records, defined as "any record of any public governmental entity," be open to the public "for personal inspection and duplication."

Missouri has an open records law, but Appleton said it is not extensive enough and does not cover things such as environmental and ecological studies.

Wilson added that it was better to put the open- record requirement in the constitution, which requires voter approval to amend, than leave it to the discretion of the Legislature.

Most of the support for the drive has come from persons protesting school board secret sessions which would be prohibited by the amendment.

"There is considerable statewide agitation for open meetings of school boards, and our phones have been busy all week with people trying to find out how they can help get the petititons signed," Wilson said. "There are groups forming now to carry the petitions just because of the school board problem."

Appleton added that many college groups also had pledged their support because the amendment would open the closed meetings of the boards of trustees of the state colleges.

"It's really an exciting thing for people to realize that if this amendment if passed, all these secret meetings will be open,' he said.

Sales Rise For Medalist

MILWAUKEE -- Increases in sales, profits and primary earnings per share for the first quarter of 1972 were reported at the annual meeting of Medalist Industries, Inc.

Medalist is a leader in the athletic and leisure field, and operates Caproco Inc. of Sikeston, Mo.

President Norman J. Fischer said sales had increased 30 per cent in the first quarter, from $8,500,000 to $11,000,000. Profits increased 44 per cent from $239,000 in 1971 to $344,000 in the first quarter of 1972.

At the same time, Fischer said earnings per share rose from 20 to 28 cents.

Robert C. Daly, vice president in charge of the company's leisure division, will relinquish those duties to take over a newly created post of vice president, public relations.

Tilliam Abbott, past president of Rawlings Sporting Goods Company will join Medalist July 1 as vice president of the consumer group.

Government Wants X-Ray Vans Parked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government wants states to take their chest X-ray vans off the roads because it says the risk of overexposure to radiation is greater than the benefits of finding a few cases of tuberculosis.

Dr. Merlin K. DuVal, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, said in a statement Sunday: "The use of mobile equipment, which requires relatively higher levels of X-ray exposure than fixed equipment, simply cannot be justified."

TB "is now almost nonexistent in many regions of the country," he added, and the government recommends using skin tests to check for the disease and X-rays only for people with positive skin tests on in high-risk groups.

The Food and Drug Administration, which prepared the policy statement, said fewer than 28 states still use the mobile Xray vans.

The government said the number of new TB cases in the nation dropped from about 64,000 in 1958 to 39,000 in 1969, and mass screening programs turn up active tuberculosis in fewer than 1-20 of 1 per cent of the people tested.

Seven Arrests

Police announced seven arrests over the weekend:

Mary L. Johnson, route two, was charged with careless and imprudent driving, Walter Leroy Frankum, 1718 Oklahoma, with disturbing the peace; Adolph Dobbs, 108 Luther, with destroying private property.

What's The Law

No Malice In Wifely Deception

When Herman's talkative wife wouldn't let him get a word in sledgwise, Herman left home and moved in with his girl friend Betty. She not only permitted him to talk, she also permitted him to have several children with her. Ultimately, however, Herman talked himself out and he died.

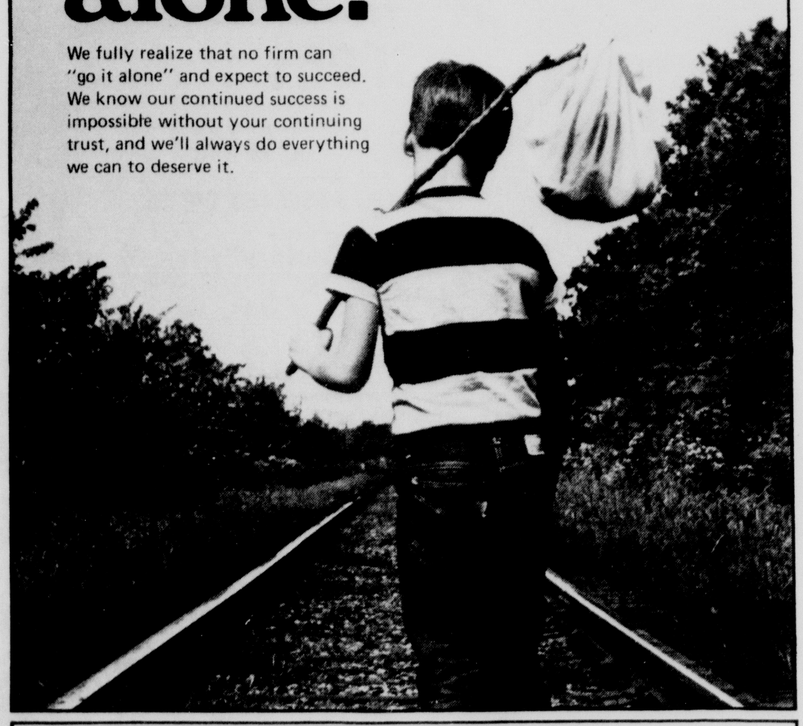

His wife, however, never slowed down. When she heard that Herman died and that Betty was applying for Social Security benefits for Herman's children as his wife and, further, that she was seeking to collect the proceeds of a life insurance in which Herman had named Betty as his "Mrs." and beneficiary, she started an action against Betty for defamation of character.

"She's a fake and a fraud," insisted Herman's widow in court. "For years, Betty has been maliciously defaming me by holding herself out as Herman's wife when, in fact. I was his wife. And, obviously, since a man can only have one spouse, I was made to look foolish and ridiculous in the community because of her willful and deceitful masquerade."

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that in holding herself out as Herman's wife, Betty had committed no unlawful act or one which, in and of itself, could be characterized as the infliction of intentional harm to Herman's real wife. A woman, observed the judge in effect, would naturally prefer to be known as a man's wife and not his paramour. Thus, concluded the judge, in holding herself out as Herman's wife, Betty obviously acted out of guilt rather than malice. (Based upon a 1968 New York Supreme Court Decision)

10-Run Ninth For Astros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'll take a four-run lead entering the ninth inning anytime," San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox said.

The Giants had it Sunday—a 7-3 edge over Houston with three outs to go. But they couldn't get those final three before the Astros got 10 runs.

"I'm not surprised by all the runs Houston is scoring," Fox said after the Astros' 13-7 triumph. "They're the most imrpoved club in the league...We scored seven runs so it's up to our pitchers to hold 'em."

In Sunday's over National League action, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 8-2 and 7-6 in 12 innings; St. Louis handed Montreal its first defeat 6-1; San Diego edged Los Angeles 2-1, and, in a pair of 11-inning games, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 5-4 and Atlanta overhauled Cincinnati 4-3.

Lee May highlighted the Astros' rally with a three-run homer that put Houston ahead 8-7. "That's more hits than I get in a week," he said of the eight-hit, ninth-inning against three San Francisco hurlers.

Successive home runs in the fifth inning by Cleon Jones and Jim Fregosi carried the Mets to their opening-game triumph, and Jim Beauchamp's pinch single drove in the winning run in the extra-inning nightcap.

The tall right-hander scattered five Montreal hits while his St. Louis batterymate, Ted Simmons, gave him all the runs he needed with a two-run single in the first inning.

Clay Kirby went the route for the Padres, scattering six hits to end the Dodgers' six-game winning streak. Derrel Thomas gave him the winning run with a tie-breaking bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth inning.

In the top of the ninth, with the Phils leading 3-2, Luzinski misplayed Richie Hebner's fly ball to left field, allowing it to drop for a double that enabled Pittsburgh to score a pair of runs.

But in the bottom of the ninth, he atoned for his misplay, unloading a towering homer that tied the score 4-4. And in the 11th, he slammed a triple, then raced home with the winning run on pinch-hitter Tommy Hutton's two-out single.

In Atlanta, the Braves also gave, then took back, allowing the Reds to score a pair of runs in the top of the 11th, then charging back for three in the bottom of the inning.

Hank Aaron's second homer of the season and 641st of his career brought the Braves an eighth-inning 1-1 tie and Darrell Evans' solo shot with two out in the 11th started them back toward victory.

Rookie Shows Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The modern day version of Darwin's theory of evolution is happening in St. Paul-Minneapolis. Bobby Darwin has evolved from a pitcher to a hitter.

"You can't make a mistake on him, he's just too strong," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams after Darwin burned the A's with two-run homer in Minnesota's 8-4 victory Sunday.

From hitting batters in the minor leagues, the Twins' 29year-old rookie sensation has gone to hitting pitchers. He's had four home runs in five games this season.

Before his turnabout, Darwin worked on the mound for eight years in the farm systems of the California Angels, Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers. He switched to the outfield in 1970 and realized his hitting potential right away, striking 40 home runs in two seasons of minor league ball in the Dodger's chain. He also hit one homer in 20 at-bats as a major leaguer.

The swinging outfielder caught the attention of Minnesota scouts and the Twins obtained Darwin on Oct. 22, 1971 in a trade for outfielder Paul Ray Powell.

In other American League games Sunday, the Texas Rangers defeated California 52; the Chicago White Sox nipped the Kansas City Royals 3-2; the Cleveland Indians downed the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Detroit Tigers 3-0. The New York Yankees' game at Boston was rained out.

Darwin's blast in the second inning wiped out a 1-0 Oakland edge and started the Twins on their way. The outfielder later got another hit to give him nine in 18 at-bats. He's knocked in 10 runs.

Veteran Don Mincher blasted a three-run homer in the first inning and Horacio Pina pitched three-hit shutout relief for six innings as Texas beat California for the third straight time.

Dick Allen knocked in two early runs with a home run and triple, then scored the gamewinner on an infield error in the eighth as Chicago beat Kansas City.

Gaylord Perry scattered seven hits and cracked a double to ignite a third-inning rally that carried Cleveland past Baltimore.

George Scott's two-run double and a solo shot by Billy Conigliaro carried Milwaukee past Detroit.

Spinks Ends Skid

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, led by newly acquired righthander Scipio Spinks, pulled out of a slump Sunday by toppling the leagueleading Expos, 6-1.

Spinks, acquired from Houston last week in a trade for Leftie Jerry Reuss, pitched five-hit ball to hand the Expos their first loss. The Cards are now 2-6.

"He didn't strain himself. He was strong all the way," pitching coach Barney Schultz said of Spinks performance. "We'll give him five days before his next start."

It was Spinks' second major league victory and he contributed two hits and an RBI to the Cards eight-hit attack.

St. Louis pushed across a pair of runs in the first. Matty Alou and Ted Sizemore walked, Joe Torre was intentionally walked by Steve Renko, and then Ted Sizemore delivered a two-run single.

In the eighth the Redbirds exploded for four more. Simmons led off with a single but was forced at second by Jose Cruz. Lou Brock singled to right, moving Cruz to third. Cruz scored when Ron Hunt dropped the ball on an attempted pickoff play at second.

Pinch-hitter Donn Clendenon walked and Spinks got his second hit of the game to score Brock. Alou and Joe Hague then smashed run-scoring hits to finish the St. Louis scoring.

The Expos scored their only run in the eighth on a walk, ground out and Ron Fairly's single to left.

"We didn't play that well," said Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, "but we got some hitting for a change....maybe we're out of our slump."

Frala Resigns

COLUMBIA - Bob Frala, freshman football coach at Missouri for six years, is leaving the coaching ranks to take over leadership of a construction firm.

Frala has accepted a position as president of the CEMO Paving Company in Jefferson City, effective May 1.

"It's a decision I made late in February, but felt it was in Missouri's best interests to delay the announcement until after our National letter- of- intent signing date," Frala said.

Terminating a 20- year coaching career -- 15 of these as a head coach -- Frala admits to "mixed emotions" in undertaking his new role.

"You can't dedicate 20 years of your life to coaching, and just walk away," he said. "I have thoroughly enjoyed my association with Missouri, Al Onofrio, the staff and players, and friends we've made here. I wish them all well."

Onofrio indicated that Frala's successor would be announced within a few days. The Tiger coach lauded Frala for "his outstanding job with our freshman program."

It was Onofrio, impressed with Frala's outstanding prep record at Belleville, Ill., who recommended him for the Tiger freshman job six years ago.

"Bob really organized and elevated our freshman program," Onofrio said. "We are losing a very capable coach who has made a fine crontribution here. We wish him continued success in his new field."

Frala developed Belleville high teams into a state powerhouse. They won four league titles, a mythical state championship in 1964 -- and that team earned him Illinois Coach- of- the- Year honors.

His seven- year record there was 51-17-3. Thirty of his athletes received college scholarships.

A graduate of Illinois where he played quarterback, Frala later was a freshman backfield coach for the Illini before entering service. He also coached football and basketball while in service, directing a 1955 Army team to the East Coast championship.

Frala was hired by Missouri in 1966, and his overall freshman mark was 17-7.

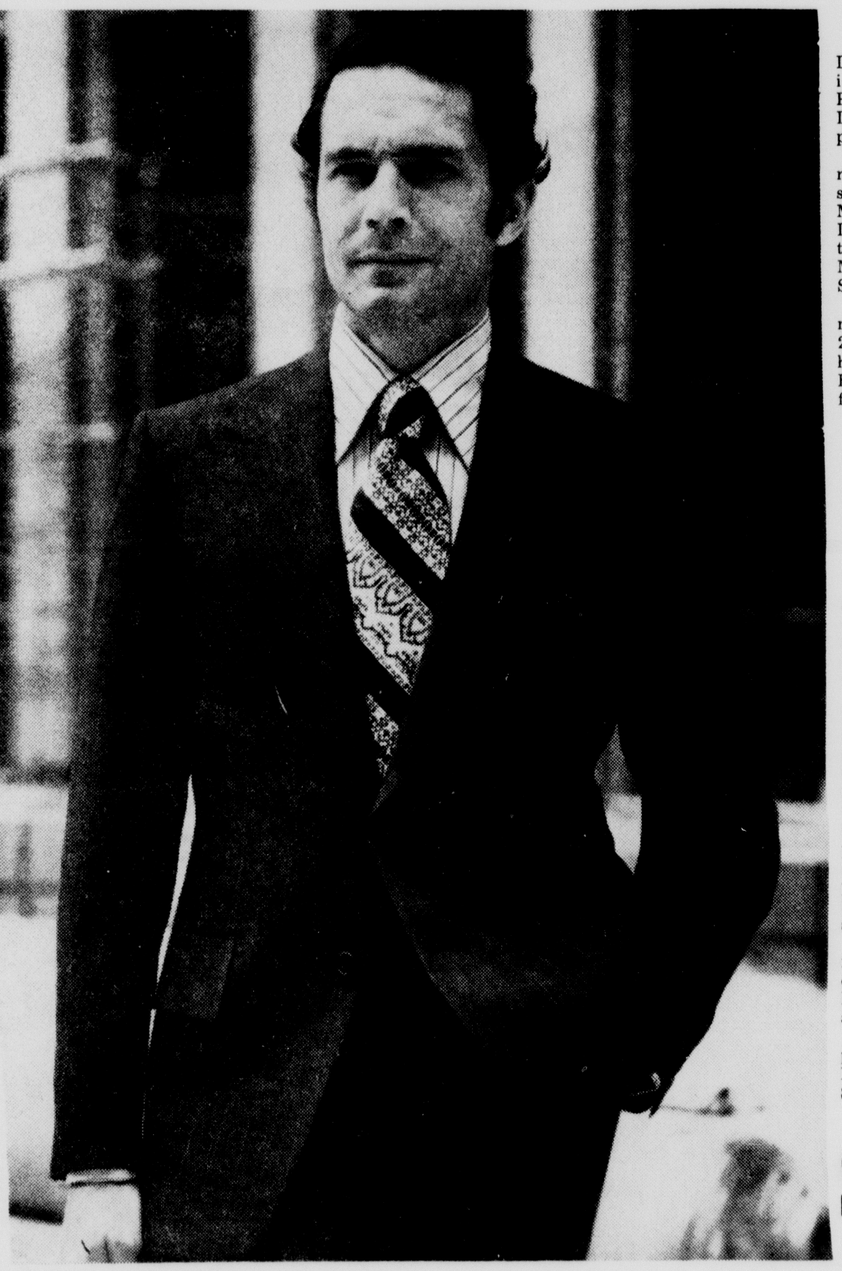

Mizzou Signs Turner

COLUMBIA -- Tiger basketball coach Norm Stewart announced today the signing of Lamont Turner to a national letter- of- intent to attend the University of Missouri.

Turner, one of the most highly sought athletes in the St. Louis area, was named to several all- America lists this season after averaging 24 points and 15 rebounds a game for Vashon High School.

"Lamont established himself as one of the outstanding high school players in Missouri and also gained national recognition this past season. We anticipate him being a major factor in continuing our winning tradition," Stewart said.

Two years ago, Turner led Vashon to the state championship and a 22-2 record while averaging 26 points and 15 rebounds per game. The 6-8, 200 pounder has twice been named all- city, all- metro and all- state in Missouri. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Turner

SEMO State Signs Holden Cage Star

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State College may not have the tallest basketball team around next season, but the Indians should not be hurting for height as much as they have in recent years, as a third 6-5 player has decided to cast his lot with the Tribe next fall.

He is Gary Pirch of Holden, Mo., who averaged 23.6 points and 16 rebounds per game during the past season at Holden High School to lead the West Central Conference in both categories.

Pirch will be joined in the Indian camp by a 6-5 transfer from Southern Baptist Junior College, Sam Hill of Cooter, Mo., and by freshman Pat McCoy of O'Fallon, Ill., who lists his height at 6-5½.

And all will play alongside returning letterman Dennis Martiz, 6-6, giving Coach Bob Cradic considerably more height to work with than he had during his first two years as head coach at Southeast Missouri.

Pirch scored 1,160 points during his high school career and had a single game high of 40. He was all-conference as both a junior and senior, all-district as a senior, and was voted the "All-Around Athlete" at Holden.

This past season he hit on 54 per cent of his shots from the field and was a 77 per cent free throw shooter.

In addition to basketball, Pirch is a track performer. He placed fourth in the high jump at the state outdoor meet last year and third in the state indoor meet this year.

"Gary has the assets to make a truly fine college forward as he is quick, a real outstanding jumper, and he can shoot from 20 feet," Coach Cradic said. "I am really looking forward to working with him, as I feel that if he is willing to work hard, he is going to have a fine future here at Cape."

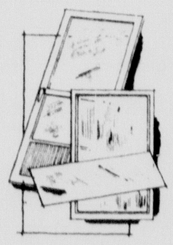

Cradic has now signed four players for next year to fill the gaps left by graduation. The other is 6-2 Mike Morrow, an all-star from Kelly High School in Benton.

WOES OF A COACH

Oklahoma State basketball coach Sam Aubrey said he slept just like a baby after his team's 83-62 loss to Colorado early this season: "I would sleep an hour, then wake up and cry for an hour."

Ryun On Comeback Trail

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The track world had reason to wonder today whether world record holder Jim Ryun once more is the Jim Ryun of old.

Ryun, hitting a comback trail he hopes will lead to an Olympic Gold Medal, outran a classy field Saturday to win the Glenn Cunningham Mile in the Kansas Relays in 3 minutes 57.1 seconds.

Ryun, now with 29 competitive sub-four-minute miles to his credit, was asked about his Olympic preparation timetable after the race and replied:

"I feel like I'm making some progress. A time of 3:57 is right on pace for the Olympic Trials."

If Ryun, who emerged from retirement of some 18 months little more than a year ago, makes the Olympic Trials, he will compete in the 1,500 meters in which he holds the world record. He also has the world's best times ever in the mile and the one-half mile.

It was Ryun's first clocking under four minutes in 11 months. He has had some recent disappointing performances, including a 4:19.6 timing in Los Angeles several weeks ago.

Ryun doesn't know right now when he will run again. He said he plans to sit down with Bob Timmons, the Kansas track coach under whom Ryun is training, and work out a schedule. In all probability, Ryun will compete in the Drake Relays this week but he has made no commitment.

Ryun, admittedly bothered by the delay in the race's start, was pleased that he was able to resvond to the brief challenge of Tom Von Ruden of the Pacific Coast Track Club on the last lap which Ryun ran in 53.8.

"I didn't particularly feel good in the race at all," Ryun said. "On the final lap, I began to move and I felt good then. If I could have done 3:55, it would have been great. I though I'd run faster."

Von Ruden, who finished second in 3:57.9, said, "It's impossible to hear the roar Jim got before the race and run a 4:19. There's no doubt in my mind that he's as good or better physically than he's ever been. I thought Jim ran a great race."

The meet record crowd of 32,000 broke into bedlam as Ryun, who achieved greateness under Timmons as a Kansas athlete, burst into the lead at the start.

Ryun dropped behind a couple of times before streaking ahead by six yards coming into the stretch and held that advantage the rest of the way.

"Yes, 3:57 is right on pace for the Olympic Trials. ..." Ryun concluded.

Four records were set Saturday in the open, university and college divisions. In all, six records were set during the four days and one tied.

Al Feurbach of the Pacific Coast Club broke the meet mark in the open shot put with a throw of 69 feet, one inch. He beat world record holder Randy Matson of the Texas Striders, who could do no better than 68-3 1/4. Matson set the old record of 68-3 1/2 in 1971.

Herb Washington of Michigan State bettered the record with his running of the open 100-yard dash in 9.2 seconds. The former mark of 9.3 was shared by three athletes.

Barry Schur of Kansas high jumped seven feet, one inch, breaking the 7-0 1/4 by Fernando Abugattas of Northwestern Iowain 1969.

Mitchell Claims Tournament Title

The obscure Mitchell, who had complained earlier in the week that sports writers "seem to think I'm invisible—nobody ever writes about me," had just beaten pro golf's most feared competitor in a suddendeath playoff for the title in the prestigious Tournament of Champions.

The 29-year-old Mitchell rolled in a 20-foot putt on the first extra hole Sunday and beat heavily favored Jack Nicklaus for only his second victory in a pro career that dates back to the time he was a youth of 15 in Danville, Va.

"It's a great feeling," exclaimed Mitchell, who collected $33,000 from the total purse of $165,000. "It was a wonderful feeling when I won at Cleveland last year (his first tour triumph). But this was even better because I beat all the champs."

The Tournament of Champions is restricted to players who scored regular pro tour victories in the last 12 months. The awesome Nicklaus, who took the Masters and two other titles already this season, was a 4-1 favorite to successfully defend his title here.

But the odds went for nothing when Nicklaus pulled his tee shot on the par three 14th—the first playoff hole—into the deep rough and chipped six feet past.

Mitchell put his tee shot in the green below the pin and made the putt.

Mitchell shot a final round 70 on the long, tough La Costa Country Club course and tied Nicklaus with a 72 hole total of 280.

Lee Trevino was third with a 72—282. Australian Bruce Crampton, Homero Blancas, Jerry Heard and Dave Hill tied at 284. Hill and Heard matched 72s, Crampton took a 71 and Blancas closed with the day's best round, a 67.

Nicklaus started the day with a two stroke lead and lost it on the fifth hole when he put his tee shot in a brook, reached the green in three and three-putted for a double bogey six. That put him in a tie with Mitchell.

Mitchell then took the lead with a birdie on the eighth, stroking a sand wedge to five feet. He lost it with a bogey from a trap on the 14th, but got it back again on the next hole, hitting a beautiful iron shot to five feet.

He lost it again on the 17th, when he made a three-putt bogey, missing the second from two feet.

BROOKVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Larry Young, an Olympic medal winner in Mexico City in 1968, says he may double in the 20-kilometer walk as well as his specialty, the 50-kilometer, in the Games in Munich, Germany this summer.

Young, who says he needs speed work, finished first Sunday in the National Amateur Athletic Union Senior 20-kilometer event at C. W. Post College. His time was 1 hour, 32 minutes, 43.1 seconds. He was almost 200 yards in front of Ron Daniel of the New York Athletic club, who finished second.

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Rain over the weekend forced postponement of the pro-am nationals drag races at Rockingham International Dragway. The races have been rescheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — The U.S. women's lacrosse team defeated an Australian national team 14-6 Sunday in the first meeting between the teams.

LIVERPOL, England, (AP) — Dick Crawshaw strode to what he claimed was a world record non-stop walking championship Sunday—230.9 miles in 67 hours, five minutes.

The 54-year-old Crawshaw, topped the old European record of 201.13 miles after plodding round the motorcycle track for 56 hours.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis soccer stars announced Sunday they have signed John Sewell of the English Football League. Sewell, 31, played right back and was captain of the Crystal Palace team of London.

National League baseball teams have drawn 73,838,789 paying customers during the past five seasons. Attendance is up 29.7 per cent since 1940, while the U.S. population has increased only 54.2 per cent.

Knicks Rally

BOSTON (AP) — "We didn't panic," explained New York Knick forward Dave DeBusschere, "and that was the ball game."

Not only was it the ball game, but it also was the series.

The Knicks moved into the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs Sunday after overcoming a 14-0 deficit and defeating the Boston Celtics 111-103, taking the Eastern Conference championship 4-1.

The Knicks will open the best-of-seven title series in Los Angeles Wednesday against the Western Conference champion Lakers.

"We had patience," said DeBusschere, who led the balanced New York attack with 24 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. "A lesser team at that point might have panicked. We pecked away, came back, and before you knew it we were within four or five points. Once we get there, we're back in the game."

The Celtics roared off to a 140 lead with 3:34 gone and looked like they were about to run the Knicks out of Boston Garden. New York did not get on the scoreboard until 3:45 when Bill Bradley scored on a lay-up. The Knicks fought back, however, thanks mostly to eight points by Jerry Lucas, and trailed only 27-23 at the end fo the quarter.

"We just couldn't seem to get off the ground," said New York coach Red Holzman.

The Knicks, who played all but the first 1:46 of the second period without DeBusschere, who picked up his third personal foul, tied the game at 34-34 with 7:38 remaining in the half. The lead switched hands five times before the Celtics took over and moved out to a 55-50 advantage at intermission.

In the third quarter, however, DeBusschere took over, despite an early fourth personal foul, and scored 18 of his 24 points as the Knicks moved out to an 83-79 advantage.

The closest the Celtics could come after that was within three, 96-93, with 5:20 remaining in the game. DeBusschere then hit four free throws and Lucas one around a Don Nelson basket as the Knicks moved ahead 101-95 with 2:41 remaining. From that point on they never led by less than six.

"Holzman's done a heck of a job with that club," said Boston's John Havlicek, who led all scorers with 3[illegible] points.

Bucks Toppled

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks' National Basketball Association championship reign is over, but they aren't quite ready to concede they lost to a better team.

The Los Angeles Lakers may well have been the hungrier team, Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin admitted. And no one could be craving the championship more than the Lakers' Jerry West, who never has savored one in his brilliant 12-year career.

West had missed all seven of his shots in the third quarter Saturday. But he came back to score 12 points in the last 5 1/2 minutes of the fourth period as the Lakers overcame a 10-point deficit and beat the Bucks 104100 to clinch the Western Conference playoffs in six games.

The Lakers, who defeated Milwaukee eight times in 11 meetings this season, will meet the New York Knicks in the playoff finals starting Wednesday at Los Angeles.

"This time of year, all teams are great and the team that is hungriest is going to win," McGlocklin said. "I felt all along last year that we would win.

"I think the ability's here, but there was a completely different feeling to me as a player this year," he said.

Milwaukee beat Los Angeles in almost every category—except in victories.

The Bucks noted, however, they had been called for 147 fouls to the Lakers' 108, enabling Los Angeles to sink 150 of 219 free throws to the Bucks' 100 of 132 for the series.

West, a nearly 48-per-cent shooter during the regular season, sank only 47 of 135 shots for less than 35 per cent in the series.

Gail Goodrich, who with West gave the Lakers 43 points from their starting guards, credited a stiffened defense anchored by Wilt Chamberlain. Besides his series-high 20 points, Chamberlain grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked nine shots.

Milwaukee's Kareem Abdul Jabbar led all-scorers with 37 points, but Chamberlain pressured him into missing 21 of 37 shots.

Tigers Get King

COLUMBIA -- Kevin King, a 6-2 guard from CBC High School in St. Louis has signed a national letter- of- intent to attend the University of Missouri, Tiger coach Norm Stewart announced today.

An all- suburban, all- metro and all- state performer, King averaged 21 points per game this past season and set a school record with 105 assists. A member of the national honor society, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. "Buzz" King.

"Kevin is one of the outstanding players in the St. Louis area. With his quickness and passing ability, he'll be a definite asset to our basketball program," Stewart said.

Stars Take Advantage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The home-court advantage returns to the defending American Basketball Association champions, the Utah Stars, tonight as they meet the Indiana Pacers in the fifth game their best-of-seven series for the Western Division title.

The series was tied 2-2 Saturday night when Indiana rallied in the fourth quarter and defeated Utah 118-108. Indiana won both its home games and Utah won the first two games in Salt Lake City.

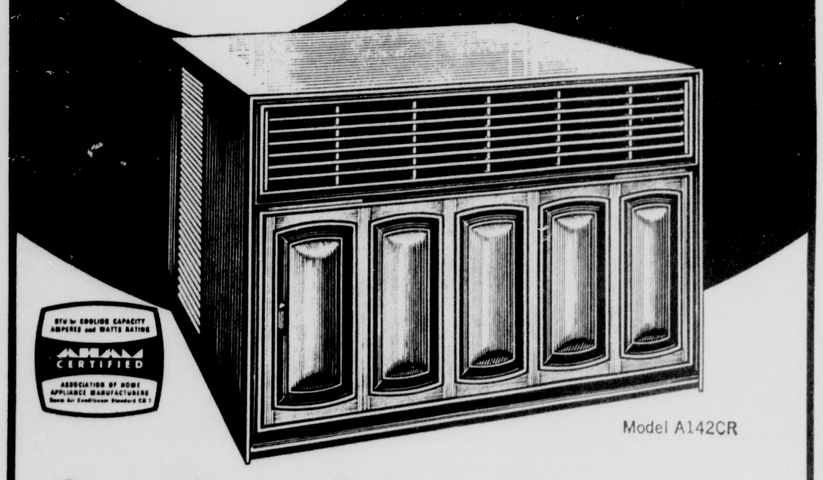

In other ABA action tonight, the Virginia Squires, leading 2-0 in the Eastern Division semi-final, travel to New York to take on the Nets once again.

Indiana's Roger Brown led all scorers with 29 points, including three three-point goals.

Willie Wise hit 13 for Utah in the first period and wound up with 25, but got only two in the final period. Jimmy Jones scored 24 points. His 14 thirdquarter points kept the Stars within reach, but he got only one point in the final period.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, April 24, the 115th day of 1972. There are 251 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1704, the first American newspaper printed on a regular basis, the Boston News Letter, was published for the first time.

On this date:

In 1743, the Englishman who invented the power loom, EdmundCartwright, was born.

In 1800, the U.S. Congress appropriated $5,000 to create the Library of Congress.

In 1877, Northern rule in the South ended as federal troops were ordered removed from New Orleans.

In 1916, the Easter Rebellion broke out in Dublin, Ireland.

In 1953, Sir Winston Churchill was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II.

Ten years ago: President Jose Maria Guido of Argentina announced that he had voided provincial elections in which supporters of exiled ex-dictator Juan Peron made a good showing.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Bootheel Potential Supplier

The Bootheel has the potential of becoming a major supplier of beef to the American consumer, according to a report presented to the Southeast Missouri Cattlemen's Association.

The report says the Bootheel can support 500,000 cows in backgrounding, or winter pasturing, operations. Backgrounding means taking a calf from the cow when it weighs 350 to 400 pounds, adding 200 to 250 pounds and selling it to a feedlot.

This could result in an additional $30,000,000 being pumped into the Bootheel economy without the loss of any cropland.

The Bootheel is well- suited for backgrounding operations, the report says , because of the large quantities of crop residues being wasted, plentiful supplies of small grains and cover crops for winter pasture, and good supplies of winter labor.

The cash crops grown in the Delta leave large amounts of unsalable stalks and roughage, which the farmer normally has to plow under to dispose of.

The beef cow is well- suited to salvage crop residues, the report says. "She can forage for and consume substantial amounts of low- quality rougages that have little or no salable value," it adds.

Labor requirements are low, only about six hours per year per cow, according to a Universtiy of Missouri study.

Benefits the farmer could realize from the adding cows include, helping pay for the fixed costs of unused crop machinery, buildings, and land, which cannot be cropped; market forages produced on land not suitable for row crops; market crop residues following production of row crops; provide work for hired labor in the winter; and possibly provide better utilization of set- aside or layout land.

"Facilities need not be expensive or elaborate for the backgrounding enterprise," the report says. The cost of the minimum facilities needed for handling 100 head of feeder calves is estimated at $1,000, depreciated over seven years.

The study concluded adequate markets are available present production, but new markets will have to be developed if Bootheel production increases substantially.

But it shouldn't be too difficult to find these new markets. Projections show the United States will need to expand its beef herd by nine to 10 million head by 1980 to meet increased consumer demand.

Armed Forces

GRANDVIEW -- Airman David R. Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland S. Gentry, 806 South Main St., Charleston, Mo., has been named outstanding airman at Richards- Gebaur Air Force Base.

Airman Gentry, an administrative specialist, was selected for his exemplary conduct and duty performance. He is assigned to a unit of the air force communications service which provides global communications and air traffic controls.

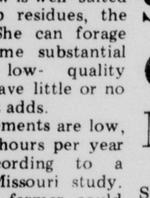

The airman, a 1968 graduate of St. Henry High School, attended the State Technical Institute, Memphis.

Spring Week On Campus Next Week

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Student Activities Council at Southeast Missouri State College is hoping the "April showers" of late will end their "reign" over outdoor activities just a little bit ahead of schedule.

That's because SAC has scheduled its annual Spring Week on the campus for next week, and among the activities on tap for the student body are six which are supposed to take place out- of - doors.

But SAC has contingency plans just in case.

The cartoon show planned for the terraces west of Academic Hall on Tuesday night will be held in the ballroom of Memorial Hall in the event of rain. Horror movies scheduled for the band field on Thursday night will be moved to North Hall of Science, if the need arises.

The auditorium of Academic Hall has been reserved in case the weather interferes with a three- band concert on the terraces Friday. And, if need be, it will be back to Memorial Hall ballroom for a parking lot "hot pants- muscle shirt" dance scheduled to conclude the week's activities the evening of Saturday.

If the rains come, however, there is not much SAC can do about the other two outdoor activities planned. These are recreational games and sports scheduled to kick- off the week Sunday from 1:30-4:30 on the playing fields on the north side of the campus, and a parachute jump by a military team at noon Saturday. The latter event has not been definitely firmed up however.

Other activities from which students may choose during the week include a spaghetti supper Sunday from 4-8 in Memorial Hall ballroom sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity; a Monday night concert at 8 in Academic Hall auditorium by the DeCormier Singers followed by a reception for the group in Memorial Hall ballroom; a coffeehouse in Memorial Hall at 8 Wednesday evening; and a symphony band concert at 8 Thursday evening in Academic Hall auditorium.

Also scheduled is the annual Trivia Bowl, during which student teams find out which knows the most minutia, from 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Saturday, and the College Theatre's production of "Marat/Sade" on Monday through Thursday nights.

All told, it seems unlikely that the familiar cry of "nothing to do" will have any validity during Spring Week.

Singers Will Give Concert Monday Night

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Cape Girardeau Community Concert Association, planning its series of programs tor next year, had placed the DeCormier Singers high on the list. One association official said the singers were the planning committee's first choice.

Now members of the association won't have to wait until the next concert season to hear the singers, described as one of the top American touring groups. For the DeCormier Singers have been substituted for the Israel Rinat Choir, which had been scheduled to present the next program in this season's series Monday at Southeast Missouri State college.

The date will remain the same, and the concert will be presented in the auditorium of Academic Hall at Southeast Missouri State, beginning at 8 p.m.

It is open to Southeast Missouri State students, members of the Cape Girardeau Community Concert Association, and members of other area associations which have reciprocity agreements with the Cape group.

There are no open ticket sales, and no seats are reserved.

Professor's Paper Wins Youden Prize

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The chemical division of the American Society for Quality control has chosen a paper co-authored by Dr. Harold W. Hager, professor of mathematics at Southeast Missouri State College, for the Jack Youden Prize for 1971.

The award is presented for the best expository paper appearing in Technometrics each year. Technometrics is a journal of statistics for the physical, chemical and engineering sciences published by the American Society for Quality Control and the American Statistical Association.

Dr. Hager's paper appeared in the August, 1971, issue. It was entitled "Reliability Estimation for the Generalized Gamma Distribution and Robustness of the Weibull Model." Co-authors were Dr. Lee J. Bain of the University of Missouri-- Rolla and Dr. Charles E. Antle of pennsylvania State University.

A 1953 graduate of Southeast Missouri State, Dr. Hager has been a member of the faculty since 1957.

P.E. Workshop Set Tuesday

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- "An Innovative Physical Education Curriculum -- Individualized Instruction" Will be the theme on a physical education workshop Tuesday at Southeast Missouri State college.

The workshop from 6:30 p.m - 9:30 p.m. in Houck Field House on the campus is sponsored by the Physical Education Department of the Southeast Missouri Teachers Association.

Thal Thrower, president of the department and a supervisor at College High School, said the program is open to area teachers, administrators, and students.

The speaker will be Robert D. Shader of the Omaha public schools.

Hayti Will Add Acres

HAYTI -- An annexation resolution read by City Attorney James A. Vickrey, was approved by the Hayti city council Monday night. The annexation would include a major chunk of property on the eastern outskirts of Hayti as well as a small portion on the southern and northern outskirts.

Before the annexation can take place, according to the resolution, the city must get a declaratory judgement in Pemiscot County Circuit Court which means, according to Vickrey, "the court must pass on the legality of the annexation".

After the declaratory judgement, an election must be held in Hayti where a simple majority is required for passage of the annexation proposal. A total of approximately 120 acres will be included in the annexation proposal.

In other business, alderman Dale Williams was nominated by alderman H. R. Euell to be president of the city council in the absence of the mayor. The motion, seconded by alderman John Turnage, was unanimously approved.

City treasurer Phil Bowen, water superintendent Ralph Abernathy, street superintendent Harry Garner, and fire chief Bob Bivens were reappointed by the council.

The council discussed what to do about the old Kohn building on the west side of the city square. The building, owned by Mrs. Freda Kines, has been condemned for some time. No decision was made.

One bid was received for radar grader tires. The bid, from Hayti Auto and Tractor parts Inc., was $153.53 for two 1300 by 24 eight ply tires with 10 percent less state net price, $176. 23 less 20 percent state net price for four 1400 by 24 ten ply tires, and $12.38 (state net price) for tubes.

Bidding for the tires will be open until May 1 and limited to Hayti businesses only.

Mayor Harry Dowdy signed a proclamation proclaiming the week from May 1 to May 6 as Clean-up, Paint-up, and Fix-up Week in Hayti.

The proclamation asked all citizens to cooperate in making Hayti more beautiful and cleaner, making Hayti as attractive as possible to induce more industry to locate in the city, improving all property, private, rental, and business, and to have a better outlook on life by living in a city made clean and beautiful for future generations.

Motorists Urged To Keep Alert

JEFFERSON CITY -- Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, today urged motorists to be attentive when they drive.

"Inattention on the part of drivers plays a major role in many traffic accidents," Hockaday stated. "While motorists may be subjected to many distractions when operating their vehicles, they are still responsible for not permitting them to lead to inattention and neglect of the primary job of driving safely.

"It isn't necessary for a driver to keep his eyes glued to the road, excluding all else from sight and hearing," he continued. "It is possible, however, to avoid certain acts that may lead to trouble."

The Patrol Superintendent urged motorists to avoid the following acts when behind the wheel: 1. Daydreaming. 2. Looking at passengers while driving. 3. Looking out the rear view mirror for a long period of time. 4. Checking maps or the next stop. 5. Searching for something on the floor while in motion.

"Motorists must realize that driving is a full- time job," Hockaday concluded. "They must give their full attention to what is going on in traffic and do their best to avoid any act that may lead to inattention."

New Store In Scott City

SCOTT CITY -- Plans were made this past week for the leasing of the former Western Auto Building for the opening of a new Western Auto Store by Claud Mize of Bernie.

The building is owned by Meridian Investment Corp. and negotiations handled for that firm by Ron Kelsey, president. Mr. Kelsey announced that the present H & R Block Income Tax Service will move to his firm adjoining Scott City Office Center Building, which also is the headquarters for Key Realty Company. Some addition may be made to the office center to house the three business firms of Key Realty, Meridian Investment Corp. and H &R Block.

Mize expects to move to the area and will attend a two week Dealer Training School at Western Auto Headquarters in Kansas City starting May 1 and then will begin setting up the new store May 15, ready for its opening about June 1.

Kelsey mentioned that these changes and the New Scott City Bank drive- in facility are signs of continued commercial progress for the area.

Fishing Days At Mall

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be fishing days at the Kingsway Plaza Mall with fishing gear and bait furnished.

Anyone will be allowed to fish for rainbow trout for 10 minutes on payment of a fee. Fishing will begin at 11 a.m.

River Ferries Still Running

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The ferries at Caruthersville, Cottonwood Point and Tiptonville were running Saturday although the Powell Ferry at Caruthersville is expected to run only for the next two days until the high waters force it to close.

The other two ferries are expected to keep running until the river stage reaches 33 feet. The river at Caruthersville stood at 32.1 feet this morning, a six-tenths of a foot rise from yesterday. The river is expected to rise to 36.7 feet by next Wednesday, authorities said.

AFTER A SPRING RAIN

As my Lady's laundry very bright and clean,
Nature's handiwork in the sunshine gleams,
Washed and bathed in the spring rains,
Riverlets running, overflowing drains,

Children wading, shouts of joy,
Mothers calling, girls and boys,
The busily humming bees,
Birds singing in the trees
Musical notes and sweet melody,
Sounds of Universal harmony.

The beauty of the countryside,
In patchwork patterns far and wide,
The newly planted and plowed ground,
Rich colors of greys, blacks, and browns.
Bordered, and so perfectly placed in between
Many hues of variegated green.

Flower gardens the sweetest perfume,
Roses red, pink, and yellow in bloom,
Lacework of shadows just right,
O Lord, what a lovely sight.
Overall a sky of azure blue,
The artisans canvas on review.

Defense Line North Of Capital Crumbles

SAIGON (AP) — Spearheaded by tanks, a North Vietnamese division smashed the northern defenses of a key provincial capital city in the central highlands today and drove South Vietnamese forces as far back as 15 miles. New air and sea battles erupted deep inside North Vietnam, in the Gulf of Tonkin and the Gulf of Siam.

Not since the opening day of the current North Vietnamese offensive, when thousands of enemy troops stormed across the demilitarized zone to attack Quang Tri Province, have the North Vitnamese made such advances.

The highlands defense line of Tan Canh and Dak To 25 miles north of the capital, Kontum City, crumbled under the enemy onslaught and a new line was being formed 10 miles north of the capital. Kontum City is said to be the ultimate objective in the 26-day-old North Vietnamese offensive.

A radio message was sent out to the scattered and badly battered South Vietnamese 22nd Infantry Division, which had its forward command post at Tan Canh and a regimental command post at Dak To, to pull back to a new defensive line at Vo Dinh on Highway 14. This is about 15 miles south of Tan Canh and about 10 miles north of Kontum. Other lesser bases and towns crumbled in the path of the North Vietnamese onslaught.

In the air war, the U.S. Command said, about 10 surface-toair missiles were fired at B52 strategic bombers raiding North Vietnam. One of the bombers sustained what the command termed "minor battle damage."

A U. S. helicopter was shot down near Dak To, north of Kontum, and the four crewmen were killed.

Dunagan Governor Of Rotary

WEST PLAINS — Horace Dunagan Jr., Caruthersville, president of the First State Bank in Caruthersville and the Bank of Hayti, is governor - elect of district 609 of Rotary International. He will succeed Dr. Wouter Bosch of Rolla July 1.

Thatcher Scism of Sikeston was chosen district governor of the organization for 1973-74 at the annual Rotary conference over the weekend instead of for 1972-73 as incorrectly reported in Saturday's Daily Standard. W. Z. Baker of Sikeston was chairman of the nominating committee.

Pat Jones, president of the Sikeston Rotary club, presided at a Saturday luncheon meeting of the conference at the high school cafetorium.

Sikeston residents attending the conference were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jobe, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Lennie Whitworth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koch, Mr. and Mrs. James Stallings, Mr. and Mrs. Scism and Jones.

Sikeston is making a bid for the 1974 district convention but a site has not been slected for the 1973 convention.

Apollonauts To Head Toward Home Tonight

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 16's explorers fire out of lunar orbit tonight to start the long journey home with a treasure ship of rocks that scientists believe will prove the moon long ago was wracked by volcanoes.

The major finds came Sunday, on the third moon drive that almost was canceled because Mission Control felt the astronauts might be tired and pressed for time as a result of their late landing Thursday night.

They return with 245 pounds of materials which represent perhaps the oldest and most significant samples yet collected on the lunar surface. Locked inside are secrets of how the moon was born more than four billion years ago.

Geologists are certain that John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly got everything they sought during man's fifth moon landing mission, primarily the volcanic evidence.

The astronauts trigger the command ship Casper's big engine at 9:16 tonight to begin the 66-hour, 240,000-mile voyage back to earth. Splashdown is scheduled Thursday in the Pacific Ocean.

The spacemen were awakened this morning after an eight-hour rest to begin the task of moving their hoard of rocks, soil and movie and still film from the lunar module to the command ship.

Later today, the lunar ship will be jettisoned to crash on the moon to activate a seismic device left there by Young and Duke.

The three astronauts were reunited Sunday night after Young and Duke blasted off the moon in the cabin section of the lunar ship Orion and skillfully maneuvered it to a linkup two hours later with Mattingly in Casper.

"What a ride! What a ride!" Duke shouted as Orion blasted away from the mountainous Descartes plateau at 8:36 p.m., EST ending a 71-hour surface expedition during which the moonmen set records for the amount of rocks collected, time on the surface and speed traveled.

Democrats Reform Convention Rules

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 3,103 delegates who will meet in Miami Beach July 10 to vote for a Democratic Presidential nominee will be selected in a bewildering variety of ways.

In 22 states and the District of Columbia they will be chosen in some form of primary election. In 24 states a convention system with established procedures will be used. But in four others, delegates to the state convention which would pick representatives to the national convention, would not be chosen until July 8 or just two days before the national caucus is slated to begin.

More than 60 per cent of the delegates will be chosen under the primary method.

The new rules were drawn up by a reform commission. They did not outlaw favorite-son candidates, but made it more difficult to put the name of such a candidate in nomination.

There are more primary elections than ever this year. They started on March 7 with New Hampshire and will end with New York on June 20.

Of the 23 primaries, 13 will be preferential. In other words, the voter will be able to express directly his choice for President. The 10 others will provide only for a selection of delegates.

In New York, Alabama and the District of Columbia the names of the Presidential candidates will not be listed on the ballot. In most states only Democrats can vote in Democratic primaries, but Alabama, Indiana, Nebraska and Wisconsin permit Republican switchovers.

In California, the statewide winner gets all the delegates, but in Florida and Wisconsin, the candidate who carries each Congressional district gets that district's delegates with the statewide winner getting the at-large delegates.

In North Carolina, the delegates votes will be split proportionately among the four top finishers in the primary.

In Oregon, a candidate's name can be place on the ballot without his permission, but in Wisconsin he may file an affidavit of noncandidacy. In Illinois, a candidate must take the affirmative step of filing.

There is a wide range of methods by which caucuses can be held to select delegates. Vermont, Wyoming, and a few other smaller states have two- tier systems under which town or precinct meetings select delegates to state conventions which in turn name delegates to the national convention.

In some states a precinct primary at which committee members are elected serves for both the selection of party officials and delegates to state conventions.

Eight convention states have two tier systems, while 16 have three- tier systems with meetings at town, county and state levels.

Prosecutor Race Assured In Stoddard

BLOOMFIELD — A race officially developed today for the office of Stoddard County prosecuting Attorney when Tom Baker filed as a GOP candidate with County Clerk John Marvin Capps.

McGhee has held the post 11 years. Baker is the first Republican to file for the office since 1930.

Deadline for filing for county offices is Tuesday at 5 p.m.

Thieves Steal Two Cameras

Thieves stole $2,000 worth of camera equipment last night from the trunk of a car belonging to Daily Standard Photographer Bill Hampton.

Three Boat Motors Stolen

MORLEY — An outboard motor was reported stolen over the weekend from the home of Roy Ragains, superintendent of Scott County School District R-5.

Ragains told Scott County Sheriff John Dennis he discovered the six-horse Johnson motor missing Sunday afternoon from a boat parked in his back yard.

Other motors reported stolen over the weekend include a 10-horse Mercury from the Don Saling residence, 413 Powell St., Miner, and an outboard in Jackson.

Dennis theorizes that a thief made a swing through the area over the weekend stealing the motors.

Two out-of-state youths are in county jail in Benton today after being arrested Friday for breaking and entering the Harold Sprenger home in Scott City.

Mike Turner, 19, an AWOL soldier from Salina, Calif., and Richard Coddington, 20, of Dyersburg, Tenn., were accused of entering the home last Tuesday in Scott City through a basement window and stealing $104.

Both men then left for Dyersburg but returned to Scott City Friday. City Marshal Ralph Hays received a tip that the men were at a girl friend's trailer, and arrested them there.

Car Backfire Starts Blaze

CHARLESTON — A call at 5:40 a.m. today sent the fire department to East Marshal Street where a 1967 Ford, driven by Mrs. Delores Hutson, was reported on fire. The fire started when the car backfired through the carburetor. Minor damage to the wiring and motor was reported.

Two Radios Stolen

NEW MADRID — Two radios, one a citizen's band, were stolen Sunday night from a tow boat belonging to the Ralph Anderson Lumber Company.

Value of the CB radio is $300 and the other, $80.

Car Damaged By Fire

Firemen were called at 6 p.m. yesterday to the Dollie Graham residence at 1031 North Ranney to extinguish a car fire. The fire did minor damage to the car floorboards.

To Order Rollback In Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — The Price Commission will order hundreds of millions of dollars in price rollbacks and customer refunds in the next few weeks, its chairman announced today.

Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the reason is that the commission's limit on profit margins in beginning to take hold as a second line of defense against inflation.

Grayson, speaking of the matter publicly for the first time in remarks for the annual meeting of The Associated Press, said he hopes the announcement will help rally public opinion behind controls.

"In a very few words I would like to inform you that beginning late last week, the Price Commission inaugurated a series of major actions which will result in hundreds of millions of dollars of price reductions, which will roll back current prices of some of the country's largest companies to their base-period levels."

Meanwhile, Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Counci, told automobile manufacturers not to expect approval of large price increases.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit, Rumsfeld said steel companies' hold-the-price-line pledge "is a significant step in the effort to reduce inflation, a step which should be reflected in the prices of 1973 model cars

Burlison Files For 3rd Term

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "I have seen during mysfour years in the Congress that in most instances, a member's effectiveness increases with each term," Congressman Bill Burlison of Cape Girardeau said today. "I hope to continue to give more effective representation to our Tenth District." He filed for a third term in the United States House of Representatives.

Missouri's Tenth Congressional District, composed of 19 south and east Missouri Counties, includes Jefferson County for the first time as its northern boundary.

Band Will Give Concert

The late division band, directed by Ron Williams, will present its annual spring concert tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafetorium.

The band will perform eight numbers. Opening the program will be "From Tropic to Tropic" by Alexander and Bainum. Other numbers are "Emperata Overture", "An Irish Rhapsody", "Punta Larga", "The Fantasticks", "Parade Marshal March", "Tribute to Bacharach and David," and "Chatam Overtrue," which will close the concert.

The woodwind choir also will perform. The choir received a I rating in state contest for bands and ensembles at Cape Girardeau.

Late division band has 81 members. Twenty seniors will play their last concert. They are Shelly Gray, Mary Waldman, Harold McConnell, Sheryl Baker, Joy Clark, Debbie Owens, Pam Wilson, Jerry Robertson, Mike Hodges, Don Russell, Bill Deane, Lee Ann Wheeler, Janie Matthews, Don Bean, Karen Hollaway, Joe Crenshaw, Phil Puckett, Charles Yant, and Danny Slaten.

The concert is free.

Six Sikeston Residents Hurt

Six were injured in a two-car accident at 7:40 p.m. Saturday, seven miles northwest of Sikeston on Route Z.

Injured were Paul Schiwitz, 34, of Sikeston, driver of one car, and five passengers in the second car, driven by Jack Newsome, 60, of Sikeston. Schiwitz received cuts on the head and the left hand.

The injured, all of Sikeston were L.D. Newsome, 54, with a possible skull fracture; Travis Newsome, 5, with face cuts; Rmamana Newsome, 3, with cuts over the right eye ; and Carolyn Lott, 16, with injuries to the right leg and ankle. All were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital

According to the highway patrol, the Newsome car was parked facing north on the southbound shoulder. Schiwitz apparently was blinded by the Newsome car's headlights, ran off the road, and struck the Newsome car head on. Newsome was arrested on a charge of improper parking.

An East Prairie woman was injured at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, two miles south of Charleston on highway 105.

Peggy Sue Cummings Summers, 31, was taken to the Missouir Delta Community Hospital with cuts and bruises.

According to the patrol, a car driven by Bruce Houseman, 26, of Charleston, attempted to make a U turn in the road and struck the side of the Summer's vehicle.

Houseman was arrested on charges of driving without a license and for failure to yield the right of way.

Firemen Heed Three Calls

DEXTER — Firemen answered three calls over the weekend.

Burning trash ignited tires on the lot at Vowell's Tire Company, 320 West Stoddard, at 11:12 a.m. Saturday.

Extensive interior damage was done to an office building on Highway 114 East Saturday at 8:20 p.m. The building, formerly occupied by Dr. B. N. Till, is owned by Rogers Construction Company.

Minor damage to a hay barn occurred Sunday at 1:08 p.m. on a lot behind 206 North First St. Owner of the building was not identified.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We all worry over things that do not concern us, and that are not of the slightest importance.

BACKWARDS

American businessmen are acutely aware of the social, economic and environmental problems that confront our country. Despite the prophets of doom blowing their brains stockpiling accusations against industry — and whose only contribution toward a solution is like a crab, to crawl backwards — modern management is busy picking priorities, weighing alternatives, seeking answers with the broadest possible applications for the common good.

While the disaster lobby sits wailing for a return to "cave and candle," there is a growing "dynamic center," according to American Can Company's Chairman and President William F. May in a recent address before the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, which "has made poverty a matter of conscience and public policy — not an accepted way of life." It is teaching students that "lending a creative hand will turn out to be a lot more fulfilling than copping out." The dynamic center recognizes "the idiot left and the maniac right" are just as much of a nuisance in science, research, sociology and economics as they are in politics.

"We are the first society in all the world in which the majority is not poor and I suggest that the sense of private responsibility that built this uniqueness represents the most significant revolution the world has ever seen," declared American Can's chief executive. In order to maintain this "uniqueness" we must maintain America's "can do" tradition. We must "sharpen our critical faculties and stop believing everything we hear." We must "put our managers to work evolving new structures to tackle our problems." We must "set our scientists and technologists to work, with the resources they need, to develop safer chemicals for agriculture, and better methods of non-polluting transportation, and better techniques for the recycling or re-use of resources. We will get them to work on breeder reactors and hopefully controlled fusion energy sources and all the other innovative developments that can improve the quality of life."

A certain romantic aura surrounds the idea of "cave and candle." But we think it wouldn't last. There are not enough natural caves to go around, and digging new ones with a piece of shale or a pointed stick would be horribly hard work, much too hard for most of the forecasters of doom. Somewhere, we think some enterprising caveman — out of dim tribal memory or some vision of a brave new world — would re-invent the bulldozer. Then with cave, candle, and bulldozer, we would be on our way once more!

AVOID MISSOURI

There is a very definite reason why nearly one out of every three members in the building trades union in this area is out of work.

It is simply due to the fact that bad labor practices have priced St. Louis labor out of the market. National firms now avoid the St. Louis area and the entire state like the plague because they have seen how labor unions here have caused stupendous cost overruns by jurisdictional fights, featherbedding, job quota systems, putting hoodlums and incompetents on payrolls, excessive overtime, restrictive labor practices and loafing on the job.

Poor labor productivity was blamed for 70 per cent of the $41,200,000 cost overrun of the first two units of Union Electric Co.'s Labadie power plant.

Actual direct construction labor man hours on Labadia Units 1 and 2 exceeded the engineering estimate of what the job should take by 49.5 per cent!

The Noranda Aluminum Co. has been put through the same labor wringer as Union Electric. Its new plant at New Madrid, Mo., should have cost about $85 million. But due principally to excessive labor costs it wound up costing $106 million. It should have been completed by November of 1970, but was not actually finished until February of 1972.

A member of Laborers Local 282 told a Globe staff writer that he and an operating engineer on the Noranda Aluminum Co. project were assigned to the job of keeping water out of a sump about a foot square and a foot deep.

The operating engineer, he said, plugged in a pump. The laborer bailed about two pails of water out of the hole. The work took about five minutes. For the rest of the day the two workers were told to "hide out in the weeds." At the end of the day one of the pair poured water back in the hole to make certain the job could be repeated the next day.

As bad as these examples are they simply are a continuation of the construction nightmares that have taken place at the Gateway Arsenal, the Poplar Street Bridge and other projects in recent years.

This horrendous record of low productivity and labor abuses now has spread to the point that big companies are passing the word that Missouri is a good place to avoid.

Proctor & Gamble entertained the idea of building a new plant at Cape Girardeau but decided to build it in Georgia instead after learning how St. Louis construction unions botch a job.

Cerro was considering a new plant at New Madrid but flew the coop when it saw what happened to the Noranda Aluminum Co.

This is why the situation will not be corrected until everyone concerned — labor unions, contractors and owners — get together and make reforms that will guarantee that major construction projects are completed on time and close to the estimated cost.

A major portion of the problem is the steamfitters union. Steamfitters are a law unto themselves. They literally dictate their own terms on jobs. Restrictive work practices by the steamfitters are blamed for the fact that it costs five times as much to install 1,000 feet of steam pipe in this area as it does in Baton Rouge, Houston or Texas City.

Until the power of the steamfitters union is broken, there is little hope that the low productivity record of St. Louis trade unions can be greatly improved.

The Circuit Attorney and the grand jury are reported investigating whether hoodlum elements in the steamfitters union ordered the killing of manager Edward Steska because he was cracking down on them by requiring a day's work for a day's pay and only issuing union cards to competent journeymen.

But the power of the fitters is so great that two members of the union still are successfully evading testimony before the grand jury about their knowledge of the Steska killing.

Reforms must come because the malpractices of labor have now brought unemployement and economic stagnation not only to the St. Louis area but to the state. The only way to change this reputation is to end these labor abuses and raise productivity so that national companies will be convinced that they can build here as economically as any place in the country.

Our attention has just been called to a new book just off the University of Georgia press in which Prof. Robert V. Andelson discusses, among other things, "property rights vs. human rights."

We believe students of history, government, or the social sciences, should make themselves familiar with at least the key passage, which follows:

"It is astonishing to me how many are seduced by the pompous declaration that 'human rights are more important than property rights.' Astonishing, because the semantic fallacy on which this silly and mischievous cliche is based is such a glaring one.

"Not even the most hide-bound capitalist has ever held that property as such has rights. The term 'property rights' refers to one of the most fundamental of human rights; To own property."

Farther along the professor drops this added bit of clarification.

"The rights of property pertain to objects but belong to men."

CHICAGO AP) — The ice is in the martini, the coal is in the grill. It's barbecue time again.

The American male is ready to flee again to the great summer pastime of cooking outdoors, and the average man's joy in this pursuit has little to do with the taste of charcoal broiled meat.

When a husband adjourns to the backyard to light and guard the fire, it is probably the only chance he will get all summer to look at the crabgrass and dandelions without being told to pick them.

When the sparks fly from the grill, a father can righteously demand that the little children be kept inside—the only time he can venture outdoors without a band of followers, some of whom inevitably need their diapers changed.

The pleasure of inhaling the scent of a sizzling steak is nothing compared with the one-upmanship gained over the wife who for a few minutes is pleased that she doesn't have to dirty the broiler again or heat up the kitchen. She may be so pleased that she even makes a fresh drink for the cook, a rare occurrence.

The cunning male communing with nature in the backyard must be careful, however, not to confuse the act of barbecuing with the purpose.

The trend to kettle cookers, hibachis, wagon grills and gas barbecues can signal the end of freedom. The male who wants to stand on the patio and watch the televised baseball game through the glass door will have a simple round grill, unshielded from wind or rain.

—"I better not leave it alone, the wind's a little strong."

—"Of course I'd rather talk to you but if I don't watch the grill the kids might sneak out and burn themselves."

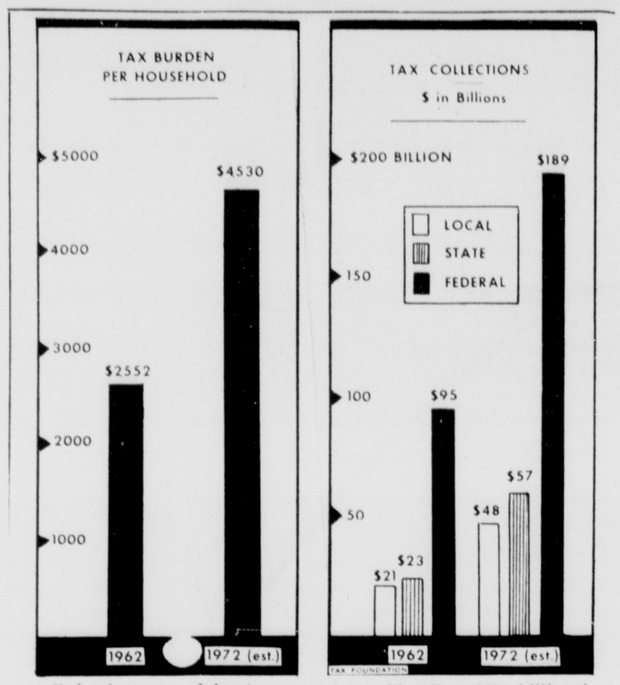

—"I'd lower the volume on the TV but I can't hear it from out here and you know I don't want to get your steak done too well again."

There is an inherent problem in mixing martinis with the ritual of the barbecue. In fact, the amount of Martinis mixed is inversely proportional to the quality of the dinner.

The cunning practioner again knows the shrewdness of offering to cook hotdogs or roasts. With hotdogs you can start over again, with little harassment about the waste.

With roasts you can burn the outside and have it raw on the inside, meaning there's something in-between for everyone.

KEEPING AN EYE
ON SPACE 'TRAFFIC'

Keeping track of some 2,400 stray objects is no mean feat, particularly when they are invisible to the naked eye and scattered over millions of miles of space.

But it is the feat being performed daily to computerized perfection for the past 10 years by men stationed deep inside a mountain outside Colorado Springs who comprise the North American Air Defense Command's Space Defense Center.

This is the nerve center of a world-spanning net of camera-and-radar-equipped tracking stations which feed back information on earth-orbiting objects—up to 16,000 separate reports a day.

Of the thousands of objects out there, less than 500 are payloads, functioning or once-functioning satellites. The rest is junk, useless debris left in orbit by launchings long past. All are important to the center which, before missions such as upcoming Apollo 15, chart the space traffic astronauts will encounter.

Prospects of a collision in space are as yet very remote. Something like a million to one against a mishap. But that could change if the space of launchings continues to pick up in coming years.

The Space Defense Center had its origins in satellite tracking operations set up by the Air Force and Navy after the launching of the Soviet's Sputnik I. In 1961, the spearate facilities were reconstituted at Colorado Springs as the Space Defense Center, which five years later moved into NORAD's Combat Operations Center inside Cheyenne Mountain.

Its primary task for NORAD, the joint U.S.—Canadian military command charged with defending the continent from air attack, is to detect incoming enemy missiles. In the absence of these, the preoccupation with nonmenacing objects in space has been a natural development.

The Space Defense Center enters its second debate this July and as the business is going here and abroad, satellite tracking should be keeping it busier than ever. It is a secondary function, but hopefully the only one the center will ever be called upon to perform.

LINKLETTER URGES PARENTS
TO LEARN ABOUT
DRUG ABUSE

Speaking at the 75th Annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, the famed television star cited some of the more successful programs young people are promoting to fight drug abuse. Mr. Linkletter mentioned volunteer organizations whose teenage counselors give periodic lectures and aid students who need information and help. There shou'd be more such organizations, he says.

Mr. Linkletter's speech before the NAM's membership was entitled "The Role of Business in Drug Control". He urged the industrial leaders to "become the leaders in the fight against drug abuse."

"There is no parent in the United States today of whatever power, wealth, fame, neighborhood, education or religion whose child is not in danger of being tempted to experiment with some kind of drug," he said.

How to solve this menace? Mr. Linkletter urges parents to find out all they can about drug abuse, and then to do everything they can to communicate with their children so that they can help them when necessary and exchange ideas before it is too late.

He makes a special plea to educators who, he says, are often the last to know what is going on in their schools. They, too, must face up to the problem and help eradicate it in the schools.

But it is to the youngsters themselves that he looks for the best solutions. They can turn it off just as easily as they can turn it on, he believes.

WE'D BE AFRAID OF THE VOTERS

No matter how much we wanted it from a selfish standpoint, if we were a Legislator at Jefferson City we would not vote for a proposal that would provide pensions for state officers and legislators, — under the terms of one version, after only four years of service.

The original pension bill provided only for pensions for state employees after a fairly long term of years.

Then someone tacked on the part, that if passed, would also provide pensions for state officers and legislators. If they are pensioned, it should not be until after 15 to 20 years of service.

There isn't a business in the nation that provides pensions after only four years of work.

There should not be at Jefferson City. No one deserves a pension after only four years of work. It is the heighth of the ridiculous to even think about such a provision, and certainly unfair to the taxpayers who will have to pay the pensions.

As we say, we'd be afraid to vote for such an unfair and selfish law, because it could happen that those who vote for it could lose a lot of votes and possibly their jobs.

It is also possible the taxpayers might do as they have done before, force the matter to a vote of the people of Missouri. In that event, we are certain the legislators would learn this is an extremely unpopular measure.

GOVERNMENT AGAINST LIFE

The recently released report of the Federal Commission on Population Growth and the American Future is a blow to all those who respect the right to life and the dignity of the individual, values which have always been a hallmark of our country.

The Commission strongly recommended government actions to reduce population, into a decline. The report itself noted that the U.S. birth rate sharply declined in the first six months of 1971, finding this "somewhat surprising," but concluding nonetheless that population growth is a threat to our country.

The report almost totally ignored the experience of foreign countries. For example, its highest estimates of growth would still leave the U.S. forty years from now with a population density less than half of West Germany, Holland and Belgium today, with their strong economies and high standards of living. Some areas of our country are too congested, but the country as a whole is far from overpopulated.

The only bright spot in the report is the dissent of the Vice Chairman, Grace Olivarez, executive director of Food for All, who says: "Human beings are not returnable items. Every individual has his/her rights, the least of which is the right to life, whether born or unborn. Those with power in our society cannot be allowed to 'want' and 'unwant' people at will....I believe that, in a society that permits the life of even one individual (born or unborn) to be dependent on whether that life is 'wanted' or not, all its citizens stand in danger." Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — A secret Vietnam study, which President Nixon ordered before he was sworn in, warned that the massive bombing of North Vietnam had failed to hamper the enemy war effort.

As President-elect, he had sought hard answers about the war he had promised to end. His foreign policy szar, Henry Kissinger, fired off a series of questions to the key government agencies. The answers caused him to remark afterward: "We found out how ignorant we were."

Kissinger compiled the answers in a bulky National Security Study Memorandum, which became known inside the White House as NSSM-1. A bootleg copy found its way to Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, who has been analyzing it for months. Significantly, he is the same senator who dared to spread the secret Pentagon Papers on the Senate record.

We have also obtained a copy of NSSM-1, which gives a devastation appraisal of the ineffectiveness of ex-President Lyndon Johnson's bombingcampaign.

Four years of bombing, reported the Central Intelligence Agency, "did not seriously affect the flow of men and supplies to communist forces in Laos and South Vietnam. Nor did it significantly erode North Vietnam's military defense capability or Hanoi's determination to persist in the war."

Agreeing, the State Department noted: "There is little reason to believe that new bombing will accomplish what previous bombings failed to do, unless it is conducted with much greater intensity and readiness to defy criticism or risk of escalation."

-B-52 Kill Rate-

Even the Defense Department acknowledged that "the bombing did not significantly raise the cost of the war" to North Vietnam.

The Pentagon estimated that "approximately 52,000 civilians were killed in NVN by US air strikes." The Joint Chiefs and the Defense Secretariat disagreed, however, over how much high explosives it took to kill an enemy.

The Joint Chiefs figured one giant B-52, which could drop 30 tons of high explosives, wiped out an average of 2.5 North Vietnamese on each mission. By this reckoning, it took 12 tons of high explosives to kill a single soldier or civilian.

But the statisticians in the Defense Secretary's office contended that a B-52, on the average, eliminated only 0.43 persons per sortie. If this estimate is correct, 45 tons of explosives were required to dispose of an enemy.

In addition to the casualties, the Pentagon noted: "The bombing undoubtedly had adverse effects on the people of NVN. Individual citizens suffered many hardships ....Food was rationed and consumer goods were scarce; and air raid warnings disrupted the lives of the populace and forced many to leave their homes....."

"Still, there is no evidence to suggest that these hardships reduced to a critical level NVN's willingness or resolve to continue the conflict. On the contrary, the bombing actually may have hardened the attitude of the people and rallied them behind the government's programs."

Concurred the CIA: "There were some indications in late 1967 and in 1968 that morale was wavering, but not to a degree that influenced the regime's policies on the war. The regime was quite successful, however, in using the bombing threat as an instrument to mobilize people behind the communist war effort.

"There is substantial evidence, for instance, that the general population found the hardships of the war more tolerable when it faced daily dangers from the bombing...."

-Bombing Failed-

All the secret estimates agreed that Russia and China were keeping North Vietnam in the war "Whereas the bombing destroyed capital stock, military facilities and current production in North Vietnam worth nearly $500 million," noted the State Department, "Soviet and Chinese aid during this period was nearly $2.9 billion (b), nearly six times as much.

"This high rate of foreign aid, coupled with the relatively low requirements of North Vietnam itself and of NVA/VC forces in the South,goes a long way toward explaining Hanoi's ability to withstand the bombing."

There was general agreement, too, that the bombing had not stopped the flow of outside aid to the battlegrounds.

"Almost four years of air war in North Vietnam," reported the CIA, "have shown-- as did the Korean War--that, although air strikes will destroy transport facilities, equipment and supplies, they cannot successfully interdict the flow of supplies...."

The State Department thought that "interdiction of Haiphong and heavy attacks on the rail lines from China would over time prevent North Vietnam from receiving sufficient ecomomic and military aid to continue the war effort."

But the CIA disagreed: "All of the war-essential imports could be brought into North Vietnam over the rail lines or road from Chins in the event that imports by sea were successfully denied.

"The disruption to imports, if seaborne imports were cut off, would be widespread by temporary. Within two or three months, Nort Vietnam and its allies would be able to implement alternative procedures for maintaining the flow of essential economic and military imports."

WASHINGTON — The latest in French fashions are their revolutionary styles. These are being copied and imported. For the newest "in" thing is French-Type violence -- in act, in rhetoric, in demonstrations, in jargon, in organization, in street terror in appeals to the new "Socialist" youth.

Unhappily there are observers, fully aware of intelligence reports, who see all this as a children's hour. It isn't. It's all aimed at disciplined street action, urban guerrilla warfare, stormy rallies and riots.

There are those in this miasma of young revolutionists who still dream of the April 1968 riot here which, according to an FBI report, cost $55 million in business losses and damaged property. Some 1,600 businesses were hit or completely destroyed.

It doesn't take much of a cadre to set sections of a city, or a union meeting, or a campus mass rap session emotionally aflame. The style was set in Paris last month, when one youth of a band of but 15 or 20 was killed storming an auto plant gate. American Embassy officials say that almost 100,000 flowed into the streets in a sympathetic surge at the funeral.

It takes only handfuls -- and their names are legion. In Paris, when I was there recently, I ran into units of the non-violent Trotskyite Alliance Marxiste Revolutionnaire: the violent Maoist Trotskyite workers power outfit called Ligne Rouge: the anarchist Organisation Communiste Ligertaire; the tough Organisation Revolutionnaire Anarchiste; the conglomerate workers' left-wing units called the Secours Rough; and the Maoist l'Humanite Rouge.

There is the Ligue Communiste, which is the Trotskyite global Fourth International dedicated to violent world revolution. It is part of the tough hard-core united front of street actionists, factory raiders and riot specialists.

They are part of an international committee -- and are as good a starting pad as any for import reports on revolutionary styles. They have comrades or cell headquarters in the U.S. -- in New York, Hartford, Madison, Wis., some Canadian cities and the San Francisco Bay area. They have a small pad in San Francisco itself, telephone, literature and some eager young men and women.

Once they were in the official Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party. Then they split and organized thenselves into the American Committee of the Fourth International back about 1964. This is what's called a Trotskyite splinter group. There are scores of splinter groups buried in the intellectual casbahs of America's big cities, especially some university towns.

Then they became the Workers League. Cynics can say it's the children's charade, not a revolutionary parade. This is what was originally said of the Weathermen, the violent SDS faction, until bursting bombs proved them quite a bloody serious matter.

They have money. They operate a network of small but active cell-like offices right across the land from New York's West Side to San Francisco. They publish a weekly 20-page tabloid, spritely written, edged with revolutionary phraseology. No one on the outside appears to know whence the money comes.

But it is there in sufficient sums to keep them in red hot newsprint. They write enviously of the young Maoist who was killed recently by a guard outside the Parisian Renault plant.

And they talk, when in their headquarters, of the revolutionary peoples: "armies" such as the Trotskyite People's Revolutionary Army which "executed" the 56-year-old Fiat general manager, Oberdan Sallustro, in a Buenos Aires proletarian hideaway.

They talk of the kidnapping of a Renault executive in a Paris suburb. And there is no bravado. They are ultras. So much so they charge the American Communist Party with being "an agent of the bourgeoisie in defense of Capitalism."

The Workers League leaders, now building a "Young Socialist" movement in the Midwest, think little more of the officail Trotskyite (Socialist Workers) Party then they do of the official (Stalinist) Communist Party.

They want cooperation with the revolutionary section of the dissident Black Panther Party. They seek out inmates who have been "attending" daily revolutionary classes in the major prisons.

The "ultras" send their cadres into the longshoremen's districts on both coasts, into garment union meetings, and whip up taxi union rallies into a frenzy, for example. They roam the streets of the capital. They're on New York's docks, close by their Eastern headquarters. They have a San Francisco office which covers the East Bay area. And they work with ultras of the SDS Weathermen at the Universities of Toronto and Montreal.

There are other revolutionists. They are surfacing. They talk of "hitting" plants of corporations in defense work or with branches in South Africa. It matters not to them whether they can smach a gate. It matters only if they can produce a martyr and a bloody, costly riot.

'Sticks And Bones,' 'Two Gentlemen' Top Tony Winners

The top drama was "Sticks and Bones," written by 31- year- old Vietnam veteran David Rabe. "Two Gentlemen," written by John Guare and Mel Shapiro, was named the best musical.

The top acting awards for musical performance presented during Sunday night's ceremony went to Alexis Smith of "Follies" and Phil Silvers, who arrived just two weeks ago in a revival of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Supporting musical awards went to Larry Blyden, also in "Forum," and to Linda Hopkins, who appeared in "Inner City", which closed three months ago.

In the drama supporting categories the winners were Vincent Gardenia of "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" and Elizabeth Wilson of "Sticks and Bones."

"Sticks and Bones" is the story of a blinded soldier returning home from the war to his family. "Two Gentlemen" is a lighthearted romp through the Shakespeare comedy. It moves to rock and Latin American beats and blues type jazz. Guare and Shapiro shared a Tony for their book.

The honors for the two shows were a double victory for the lively theatrical organization headed by Joseph Papp. He originally produced both shows — off Broadway.

"Follies," a musical that opened a year ago but was eligible for consideration now under Tony deadline regulations, won seven silver medallions in the 18 competitive categories, the most for a single production.

By coincidence the ceremonies took place on the 408th anniversary of Shakespear's birth. His posthumous assist to 1972 creativity was the only overseas tinge amid all the presentations. For the first time in many years all the awards were won by Americans.

Tony recipients in other competitive categories were: musical score, Stephen Sondheim, "Follies:." musical director, Harold Prince and Michael Bennett, jointly, "Follies;" choreographer, Bennett, "Follies;" play director, Mike Nichols, "The Prisoner of Second Avenue." Three other "Follies' awards were to Boris Aronson, scenic design; Florence Klotz, costumes; and Tharon Musser, lighting.

Special awards for distinguished accomplishment through long careers were presented to musical star Ethel Merman and composer Richard Rodgers, both of whom participated in quick- tempo reprises of conspicuous triumphs. Harold Prince got a medallion citation on behalf of "Fiddler on the Roof," which on June 17 becomes the longest running show in Broadway history. Also honored was the Theater Guild- American Theater Society which supervises subscription bookings for shows on tour.

Court Sidesteps Auto Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today stepped out of a suit by 18 states against big auto manufacturers and concluded that nationwide pollution cases are best handled by lower courts.

The immediate effect of the unanimous decision is to slow a drive by the states to force the manufacturers to install antipollution equipment in all 85 to 100 million autos built by them between 1953 and 1969.

Justice William O. Douglas, who generally takes the lead in urging the court to expand its docket, delivered the ruling saying that while the 18 states have the Constitution on their side, their suit, for practical reasons, belongs before lower courts.

The suit charges General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors with conspiring to delay the development and introduction of antismog devices. The states said they began their suit in the high court because if they had begun at the lowest level of the judiciary system it might take 10 years to reach a final settlement.

Douglas did not comment directly on this point, although he said in a footnote that a similar suit already is under way in a U.S. district court in California.

As for pollution cases generally, he wrote, it makes more practical sense to put them to district courts because local conditions are an important factor in the final judgment.

However, Douglas said, "the proposed complaint plainly presents important questions of vital national importance" and "our jurisdiction over the controversy cannot be disputed."

The government dropped its own antitrust suit against the automakers in 1969. A consent decree restrained the four companies and a fifth named defendant, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, from any future conspiracy.

In other action, the court:

—Tossed out a test case which could have altered the Miranda decision governing the use of confessions. The court agreed with attorneys for a Pensylvania man that his murder trial should not be reviewed because a state supreme court decision which placed his case under the Miranda rule was based in part on state law, thus placing it bevond the federal high court. The 1966 Miranda ruling invalidates confessions unless the accused has first been informed of his rights to remain silent and to have an attorney present.

Major Issue Pending As Legislature Nears Close

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — With budget bills out of the way, the Missouri Legislature went into its final week today with some major issues still pending.

Work on bills has to end next Sunday. The Senate was scheduled to resume work at 2 p.m. today and the House at 4 p.m.

Senate leaders are driving toward action on a revised version of a constitutional amendment to reorganize the executive department—the so-called "Little Hoover" plan.

It is ninth down on the Senate's docket of bills for debate and if the revamped version gets by the Senate, it would still have to be considered by the House.

Also high on the Senate list is a House-passed bill to lower the blood alcohol content from .15 of 1 per cent to .10 of 1 per cent for a driver to be considered intoxicaeed. The Senate passed a similar bill earlier.

Far down the Senate list is the so-called "sunshine bill" to require open meetings for public bodies. The Senate Judiciary Committee changed the bill drastically and if it should be reached in the final days, it would still rqquire House action.

Several other proposed constitutional amendments are pending and could be brought up at any time in the House.

One changes voter residency requirements to conform with federal law and at the same time gives full adult rights and responsibilities to 18-year-olds.

Another would abolish the present two-term system for governors and go back to the old rule that a governor could serve only one four-year term.

If passed by the House, both would have to go back to the Senate for consideration of House changes.

Dozens of local and minor bills could cause delays in either house but Democratic leaders of both houses have said they are determined to clean up all remaining major legislation before the automiatic adjournment deadline.

Hospital Bed Needs Will Be Doubled

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Cape Girardeau will need to double the number of hospital beds within the next 10 years, members of the Southeast Missouri Hospital Association were told at the annual meeting.

He said three physicians were added to the hospital's medical staff last year, two others have joined this year and at least two more will join soon. He said each additional physician needs 10 to 20 beds for his patients.

Southeast Hospital is now engaged in a 64-bed expansion, largely for its maternity section, while St. Francis Hospital expects to proceed this summer with construction of a new hospital on a site on Mount Auburn Road in the west part of the city. It, however, will provide no additional number of beds.

Collegians Favor Dowd

Dowd got a reported 59 per cent of the votes to 24 per cent for Joseph Teasdale. Lt. Gov. William Morris got 13 per cent. Some participiants did not vote.

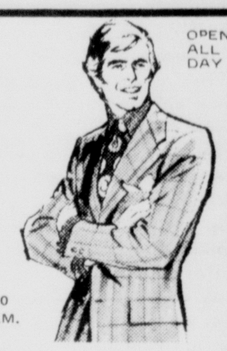

Ten colleges were represented at the annual convention. Bob Haslag, a native of Springfield, Mo., and now a law student at St. Louis University, was elected president of the Young Democrats.

In voting for lieutenant governor, candidate Jack Schramm got 87 per cent of the votes while James Godfrey got 13 per cent.

In the voting for state treasurer, the Young Democrats gave Larry Carp 38 per cent of their votes while E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell got 33 per cent.

None of the presidential candidates received a majority of the votes. George McGovern got 39 per cent, Hubert Humphrey 30 per cent and Edmund Muskie 15 per cent.

Boys Town Cash Drawer Reported Flowing Over

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP) — Boys Town, the unique home founded 55 years ago for orphans, has more money than it knows what to do with, a published report says.

The Sun Newspapers of Omaha, in a copyright report, says Boys Town has a net worth of at least $209 million— possibly much more. Fund-raising activities bring in $25 million a year, more than four times what is spent caring for the residents, the weekly newspaper says.

The article says that Boys Town had debt-free wealth of $191.4 million in its 1970 report, while its U.S. census listed 993 men, women and children in the city on the western edge of Omaha. The figures would provide an average wealth of more than $191,000 per person, the newspaper says.

The institution, with its 1,300acre campus, floundered financially, the article said, through most of the 30 years it was headed by the late Msgr. E. J. Flanagan, its founder in 1917. But by his death in 1948, money had begun to come in and Father Flanagan had it pledged to pay off a major plant expansion.

Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, who has headed Boys Town since 1948, has concentrated on fund raising, with the result, the newspaper said, that Boys Town is bringing in millions, while there is no plan for spending the money.

In addition to donations, the newspaper said, Boys Town receives public funds from at least three state and two federal programs, amounting to perhaps $200,000 a year.

The newspaper said the income from Boys Town's $162million investment portfolio brings in more than enough each year to meet the cost of operating the home, including the school, counseling services and all related activities.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Daniel E. Sheehan of Omaha, whose clerical office makes him the chief officer of the institution, reported Sunday that the Boys Town spring fund drive has been discontinued, but no decision has been made on the Christmas fund-raising effort.

Archbishop Sheehan said the decision was made either last December or early in January and was not a result of the Sun Newspapers' report.

The newspaper said it drew much of its financial information from a statement the nonprofit corporation must file with the Internal Revenue Service under the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

Five Drown In Boating Accident

CENTREVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A Sunday outing turned into gragedy when five persons downed in a boating mishap at the lake of Frank Holten State Park near East St. Louis, Ill.

Three of the victims were children and one was a man who swam toward them in a rescue attempt. A passerby was able to save two occupants of the 12-foot boat by throwing a rope to them.

State police said the boat was designed to carry three persons but had six in it. It began taking water about 75 feet from shore and then submerged.

The victims included:

Tina Summers, 12, of East St. Louis; a neighbor, Teresa Cantrell, 9; Cynthia White, 9, who lived at the MacArthur Hotel in St. Louis; Charles A. Funley, 30, a resident of the same hotel and Fremont Clayton, Jr., 48, a maintenance man at the hotel who owned the boat. He drowned while swimming out to save the others.

The two saved are Paul White, 45, father of one of the victims drowned, and Cynthia Summers, 13, whose sister, Tina, also drowned.

College Funds Decided

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's colleges and universities will have more money to operate on beginning July 1 than they had this year, but none got the full appropriations requested.

The legislature approved about 5.56 per cent more from tax money to operate the four campuses of the University of Missouri in appropriations approved Saturday night, but granted less than the governor had recommended.

The University of Missouri will receive $95 million of its requested $112.9 million in tax money plus $49.2 million from other funds beginning July 1 through June, 1973. The governor had recommended $97.6 million.

Last year the university was appropriated $89.9 million tax dollars of its total $138.3 million budget.

Other colleges will receive appropriations from tax money as follows:

Lincoln University — $3.1 million, the governor's recommendation.

Missouri Southern State College at Joplin — $1.7 million, the governor's recommended amount.

Missouri Western State College at St. Joseph — $1.7 million, the amount recommended by the governor.

Northeast Missouri state college at Kirksville — $6.1 million. The conference committee added $126,000 to the governor's recommendation.

Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville — $5 million. The conference committee cut $84,000 from the senate's recommendation, but restored the appropriation to the governor's recommendation.

Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau — $7.3 million, the same as the governor recommended.

GOP Field Swells To 5

He is challenging Rep. R. J. "Bus" King of Clayton, State Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond of Mexico, St. Louis County Pros. Gene McNary and Harvey E. Euge of St. Louis. There are 11 Democrats in the race.

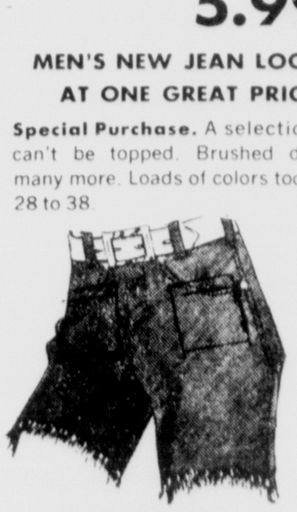

Burns, 57, a real estate man, also ran for governor unsuccessfully in 1952.

Burns, who is serving his third term in the House, described himself as a fiscal conservative and predicted "this is the year Republicans can win the governor's office. Democratic bumbling and excesses for far too many years have disgusted the people of Missouri to the point they are ready for a major change."

He said his would not be an "image campaign" but would concentrate on "the real gut issues." He listed four major points in his platform:

Federal revenue sharing, effective means to stem juvenile crime which he called Missouri's No. 1 priority, protection of public and private pension and retirement plans from being dissipated by bad management and d eveloping Missouri's inland waterways commerce.

PTA Officers Installed

EAST PRIAIRE — Parent-Teacher Association officers for the 1972-73 school year were installed Thursday night in the high school auditorium. They were president, Mrs. Elsie Morris; vice-president, Mrs. Carolyn Orr; secretary, Mrs. Ruth Bratton, and treasurer, Mrs. Lottie Cantwell. Mrs. Vernon Pritchett, past president was the installing officer and corsages were presented each officer by Mrs. Jerry Williams.

Entertainment was provided by the junior high girls sextet and soloist Mark Hurt. Accompanist was Mrs. Weldon Bird.

Mrs. Morris announced the P-TA workshop will be Thursday in the high school at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Carey Johnson, East Prairie cancer chairman, requested the association sponsor a film strip on cervical cytolgy. The film will be shown to the public at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the high school library.

CHAFFEE — Miss Patricia Ann Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Groves, and Dan Leroy McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McBride of Chaffee exchanged wedding vows Feb. 9 at St. Ambrose Catholic Church.

Mrs. Janna Hodge, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Miss Paula Miskell was the bridesmaid.

Miss Diana Uhrhan, flower girl, was dressed in pink and she and attendants carried carnations.

The bride was given away by her father, Ollie Groves. Bouquets of gladiolas decorated the Altar and Patricia placed a bouquet of carnations on the Blessed Virgin's Altar.

Kidney Problem Solved

Dear Ann Landers: When I read the letter in your column from the guy with the bashful kidney it made my whole day. It's good to know I'm not the only one in the world with such a kooky problem. I'd like to help my afflicted buddies by sharing a gimmick that helped me cope with the situation. It was suggested by my high school football coach. The idea is to get your mind off yourself and on to something completely unrelated. The way to do it is to WHISTLE your favorite tune. Mine was "Lulu's Back in Town."

A few years ago I was in a large office building in a strange city. I started out for the men's room and couldn't find it. I did go by a ladies' room, however, and seeing as how my kidneys were killing me I decided to chance it. I ducked into one of the alcoves, which, of course, had a door on it. At that very moment I heard another person come in. I started to whistle "Lulu's Back in Town." The voice next to me yelled, "I hate that tune!" So I immediately switched to "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." She shouted, "That's better." So "Swanee" has been my tune ever since.

If you print my letter please don't use my name or initials. I'd never hear the end of it. Thanks, Ann. — Bashful Kidney In Minneapolis

Dear Bashful Kid: "Swanee River" is somehow a more appropriate selection. Thanks for your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: My son is 58 years old. He had a stroke last year and is partially crippled. His insurance and early retirement money takes good care of him so he has no financial problem.

The woman he wants to marry is 43 years of age. She has four children. One child is still at home with her -- a 15-year-old boy. I am against this marriage but I cannot persuade my son I am right. I don't believe it would be fair to a 43-year-old woman to marry a man who can't give her the physical pleasures she is entitled to. I have not discussed this with him because it is not a subject for a mother and a son. But it bothers me a great deal. The woman is very cool toward me because she knows I am against the marriage. They seem to get along fine together but I'm afraid after they are married it will be a different story. What do you think? — Louisiana Reader

Dear Lou: I think a 58-year-old man does not need his mother's permission to get married. Also, you don't know what their personal life is like and it's none of your business. It might be better than you think. You should be pleased that your son has found a woman he wants to marry -- and who wants to marry him. Stop trying to undermine the situation and wish them luck.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old college student and I can't believe the things people write to you about. The letters I read in the papers seem so absurd -- for example, the 14-year-old girl who fell in love with the bus driver, and all those idiots who fall for married men. Do you believe they are real? My hunch is that they are from a bunch of clowns who are trying to get their letters in the paper. Level with me, Ann. Don't you think the people who write to you are a little weird? — GMG In Kalamazoo

Dear G.: The other guy's problem sounds a little weird until something similar happens to you. If you haven't seen yourself in the column yet, keep reading. You will. Suddenly other people's problems will seem a lot less nutty.

Is an upcoming wedding driving you bananas? Ann Landers' comprehensive booklet, "The Bride's Guide," gives you the facts from the initial announcement to the last bill and who should pay it. To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin.

East Prairie Woman Records First Religious Album

"IT'S IN MY HEART", a stereo album of religious music, will be released in May by Mrs. Marshall Larkins of the Dorena Community.

EAST PRAIRIE — "I've been singing all my life," Mrs. Marshal Larkins, homemaker and mother of two, said.

She has recorded her first album of religious music, answering requests from friends in churches in Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The idea began nearly 15 years ago when she accompanied her husband, a lay minister, to churches in the four-state area. "Friends would ask me why I didn't record an album, but the time and money was not available until recently," she said.

While in Kennett a few weeks ago on business the couple stopped in at a recording studio and after receiving encouragement from the studio manager she came home and began six weeks of working preparing arrangement with her accompanists, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, organist and Mrs. JoAnn Wolford, pianist.

"That was the hardest day's work I have ever done in my life," she said referring to the eight-hour taping session. "I was pleased and shocked when I heard the play back." "That was the first time I have ever heard myself on tape that I was really satisfied with the way I sounded," she said.

The album, titled "It's in My Heart," will be released in May by Mission Record Company of Nashville.

Included on the stereo album are "The Holy City", "The Way He Loves". "You Can Have a Song in Your Heart," and seven other of her favorites songs. Two of the numbers will be duets with Mrs. Larkins singing both soprano and alto parts. The record will be sold in stores and through churches.

Mrs. Larkins, the former Doris Jones, was born and reared in the East Prairie area. She and her husband, who is a farmer, and their son, Timothy, 13, and daughter, Robin, 9, live in the Dorena Community. They attend the Dorena Baptist church, where she has been pianist 15 years. Both children take piano and Robin often sings with her mother at church services.

Mrs. Larkins is often asked to sing at weddings, and funerals and revivals.

"If I am convinced that the people who have been wanting me to make this album are sincere and they do buy it, then I will make another one in the future," was her reply when asked about her plans. "I love to sing."

Bader-Moore

DEXTER — Miss Helen Elizabeth Bader and Danny Earl Moore were married, April 8 at 2 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. William A. Huggins officiated a the ceremony before an altar setting of white daisies and snap-dragons.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Bader, Route 2, Dexter, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Baker, Campbell.

The bride selected a gown of white crepe with embroidered flowers on the bodice and full sleeves accented with wide cuffs. The slight A-line skirt had a self train and she wore a cathedral length veil of white illusion bordered in lace. She carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Miss Marcella Bader was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Bader, both sisters of the bride. Miss Toni Stause, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Best man was David Daniels and Kirby, Wilson served as groomsman. Stan Sullivan, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer andushers were Gordon Payne and Norman Stause.

The bride attended Dexter high school, graduating in 1966 and his a 1970 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau. The bridegroom graduating from South Pemiscot high school in 1965 and is employed by Monsanto Chemical Company in St. Louis The new Mrs. Moore is employed with the North County R-1 school district in Desloge where she instructs elementary physical education.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Hall.

Following a honeymoon in Memphis the couple will live in St. Louis.

Glenda Reynolds' father is a peanut farmer in Clayhatchee, Alabama. And, until she tried Ayds®, Glenda was the fattest peanut in his crop. 197 pounds of meat with very little shell.

When she was only nine, she met her future husband, Steve, at her uncle's wedding. He was the bride's brother, so they saw a lot of each other over the years. Maybe that's why he never really noticed her weight. But she did. She kept promising herself she was going to reduce. Instead, she married Steve and gained even more.

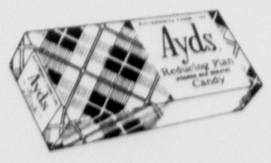

They lived in a trailer next to her parents' home, and since she worked, her mother cooked for them. How they ate! There were big feeds at Steve's folks, too. Then one day she sat down in her platform rocker and it gave way. Cracked right in half. Steve broke up, too. He laughed and laughed. But Glenda didn't think it was funny.

Fortunately, right after that she read one of those stories about a woman who'd lost weight with the help of Ayds Reducing Plan Candy. So she bought a box. It contains vitamins and minerals but no drugs, no artificial sweeteners. You take one or two Ayds as directed and it helps curb your appetite. On the Ayds Plan you automatically eat less because you want less, so you lose weight naturally.

Glenda Reynolds lost 66 pounds on the Ayds Plan. And, of course, she's received all sorts of compliments. But she feels the nicest one came from her younger brother. He said to her husband: "I'd marry a fat girl anytime if she'd turn out like Glenda."

Dexter Scout-O-Rama Held Saturday

DEXTER -- The Sioux District Boy Scouts of America held their annual Scout-O-Rama Saturday at the Armory from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Twelve troops, including Cub and Boy Scouts, displayed exhibits of all phases of scouting.

Proceeds from tickets sold to the event will go back into the projects of troops in the district. John Chamberlan, Dexter Cub Scout, sold the most tickets out of the district and was presented a television set. Chamberlan sold 235 tickets. Greg Triplet of Essex and Gray Ridge Pack 171 won a tent as second place selling 105 tickets.

The Essex and Gray Ridge pack presented a puppet show during the afternoon and the Bernie Troop 78 fired rockets which they had made. Malden Troop 76 displayed bird houses and construction.

Area towns participating were Essex, Gray Ridge, Dexter, Malden and Bernie.

Extension Clubs Hold Achievement Meeting

The Scott County Extension Association held its annual achievement meeting at Security National Bank. Mrs. Harold Rogers, president, presided.

Mrs. Larry Harshbarger, program chairman, introduced Norman "Sam" Swan, International Farm Youth Exchange student of Cape Girardeau County.

Swan told of his six months stay in Ceylon, using colored slides, to illustrate his talk. He lived with families and joined in their work and recreation as one of them.

"The women do most of the work, such as harvesting of rice and tea," Swan said. "Tea is their main beverage, with rice and curry as their principal food. The raising of coconuts is an important crop, with a tree producing a crop every two months."

Ceylon marriages are arranged by the parents of the young people. The parents of the girls must give a dowery to the husband to be when she is married.

Swan's objective while in Ceylon, was to promote understanding, and peace between the nations. His closing comment was "Le. there be Peace."

Tom Stroup, Scott County extension director, was in charge of the awarding of standards. Certificates were presented to 11 clubs.

Clubs receiving awards were Oran Better Homes and Children, president Mrs. Tom Moroni; Scott City Better Homemakers, president Mrs. John Ashcratt; Lusk Extension Club, president Mrs. Harry Showmaker; McMullin Extension Club, president Mrs. Jim Burris; New Hamburg Extension Club, president Mrs. Joseph Heuring; Sikeston Extension Club, president Mrs. Cecil Boyer; Sikeston Young Homemakers, president Mrs. Melvin Cokenour; and Benton Town and Country Homemakers, president Mrs. Paul Pattengill.

A skit of what might have happened at the first club meeting in Scott County was presented by the McMullin members. The McMullin community was the first to organize an extension club in Scott county in 1932. The club was known as the "Friendly Neighbors". There were eight charter members, with two of the members, Mrs. Eula Minner and Mrs. James Marshall still active in the McMullin club. Another charter member was present, Mrs. Eva Altom, of Sikeston.

The meeting closed with the viewing of exhibits of creative handwork displayed by the clubs.

District Sew With Cotton Winners Named

DEXTER — The 12th annual District Sew With Cotton Style Show was held Saturday at the high school with 130 girls competing in six categories displaying garments of 100 percent cotton. Eight counties represented were New Madrid, Butler, Stoddard, Dunklin, Mississippi, Pemiscot, Ripley, and Scott Counties.

Three top winners were chosen in each category from the 956 girls who had entered county contests.

Contestants received training in modeling under the direction of Mrs. Elsi Boaz, director of the Patricia Stevens School of Modeling, Memphis. Mrs. Velda Rankin, clothing specialist of the University of Missouri, Columbia, presented a program to the leaders and parents titled "Careers in Clothing." Mrs. Wendell Crosby, youth assistant gave a program for the girls not participating in the regular program titled "Posture on Parade".

Mrs. Helen Lawler, Cooter home economics instructor was in charge of the style show at 1:30 p.m. with the theme "Cotton Springs into Fashion."

Winners announced in the Junior Miss Class with Experience including 13, 14, and 15- year- olds, were Linda Brigance, first place, Dunklin County, Vanessa Gibbs, second place, New Madrid County, and Patricia Pennington, third place from Ripley County.

Top winners in the Open Class event, which included suits, dresses, or pant suit ensembles, were Paula Siebert, first place, Scott County, Dianne Lawler, second place, Pemiscot County, and Virginia Rideout, third place,Ripley County.

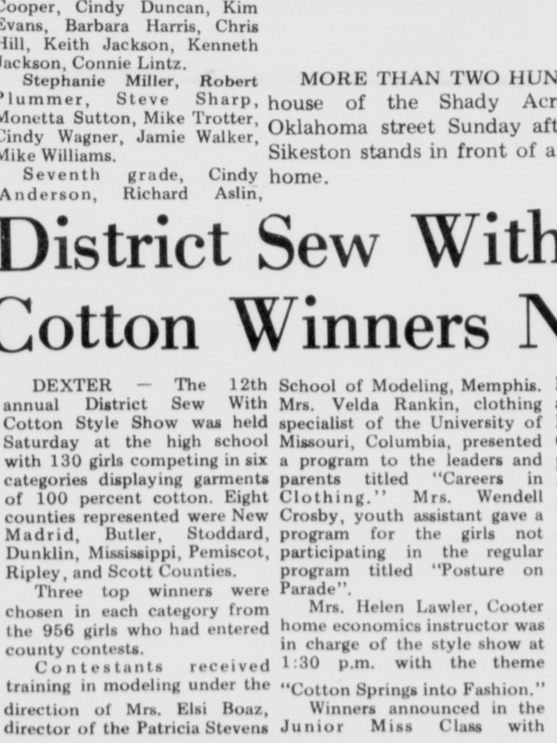

There was confusion during the girls class of 10, 11, and 12- year- old girls when the awards were given to the wrong contestants. Winners of the division were LaRue Campbell, first place, Scott County, Cindy Nance, second, Ripley County, and Lisa Westrich of Scott County with third.

In the junior miss class with no experience winners were Cindy Culbertson, Stoddard County, first place; Joyce Alane Stroup, Scott County, second, and Kersi Keasler of Stoddard County, third.

Marlene Gosche of Scott County received first place in the sportswear division for girls 13 and over. Peggy Wooldridge of Butler County received second place and Dorthy Heuring won third place for Scott County.

Chosen were three girls to represent Missouri in the Mid South Cotton Conference, in Memphis during March of 1973. These girls will be Marlene Gosche of the sportswear division from Scott County, Marilyn Lipford, Mississippi County, and Linda Langdon of Dunklin County, both of the misses class.

The program was sponsored by the National Cottonseed Products Association, Inc., and the Mississippi Valley Oil Seed Processors Association of Memphis, Tennessee, the Kennett Oil Mill, Inc., of Kennett, and the Sikeston Cotton Oil Mill, Inc., of Sikeston cooperating with the Administration of the high schools and home economics departments and the University of Missouri Extension Division.

Earl Braswell

One of the most widespread and strongly held superstitions about water still survives in the Wishing Well. In pagan days, when the well was possessed by a nymph or sprite, offerings were thrown into or left near it. The maker of the offering prayed to the water sprite for some favor or help to be granted because of the gift. As faith in multiple gods waned, the offering became a token gift, then prayer and finally a wish.

Your wish for sparkling, refreshing drinking water can easily be realized. Your lucky day is the day you install a Miracle Water water refiner. These refiners are engineered to handle most all hard water problems with ease. For a low cost, practical way of enjoying good water, phone

JEFFERSON CITY -- The newly formed Citizens Lobby will announce this week it has collected sufficient funds to start an initiative petition drive to take the issue of open meetings to the voters.

The governmental reform organization announced April 13 the drive would start if $5,000 could be raised, and an extensive statewide telephone campaign over the past two weeks has obtained the needed donations.

"We're definitely going with it," Ray Appleton, the group's executive director, said last week. "The response has been fantastic."

The lobby's goal is to collect about 100,000 signatures by July 6 so that the measure, in the form of a constitutional amendment, can be placed on the November ballot. That is a major task for the fledgling group, but Appleton is optimistic.

"I really think we're going to do it," he said. "I base my optimism on the numbers and kinds of people calling and volunteering to carry petitions. We've got support all over the state."

The group's decision to start the drive was triggered by the Legislature's apparent failure to pass an open meetings bill this session. The House passed a heavily amended version of the so-called Sunshine bill, but it is far down the Senate calendar in the form of a Senate committee substitute with little chance of reaching the floor before the April 30 adjournment.

But even if the Legislature passes an open meetings bill, the lobby plans to go ahead with the petition drive because of loopholes in both versions under consideration.

"The present versions are very weak, too weak to be acceptable," Carl Wilson, the lobby's chairman, said. "The public shouldn't have to accept a compromise."

Wilson is particularly critical of provisions in both bills which would allow votes in legislative committees to reamin secret unless the measure being considered is passed out of committee.

Under present rules, votes are made public only when committees formally recommend passage or defeat. Informal votes to kill or lay over a bill are not released.

The lobby's amendment would alleviate this practice by requiring that "any meeting of any public governmental entity" be open. This includes all legislative committee meetings, Wilson said, and all votes would have to be made in public.

Unlike the bills debated this session, the lobby's proposal does not exclude any public meetings from the open- door requirement. It does, however, state that the amendment shall not affect constitutional or statutory provisions concerning "criminal proceedings against an individual, or which pertains to the legitimacy, illegitimacy, adoption, mental health, Physical health, scholastic gradation, or filed taxation statement of an individual."

The amendment also would provide that public records, defined as "any record of any public governmental entity," be open to the public "for personal inspection and duplication."

Missouri has an open records law, but Appleton said it is not extensive enough and does not cover things such as environmental and ecological studies.

Wilson added that it was better to put the open- record requirement in the constitution, which requires voter approval to amend, than leave it to the discretion of the Legislature.

Most of the support for the drive has come from persons protesting school board secret sessions which would be prohibited by the amendment.

"There is considerable statewide agitation for open meetings of school boards, and our phones have been busy all week with people trying to find out how they can help get the petititons signed," Wilson said. "There are groups forming now to carry the petitions just because of the school board problem."

Appleton added that many college groups also had pledged their support because the amendment would open the closed meetings of the boards of trustees of the state colleges.

"It's really an exciting thing for people to realize that if this amendment if passed, all these secret meetings will be open," he said.

Sales Rise For Medalist

MILWAUKEE -- Increases in sales, profits and primary earnings per share for the first quarter of 1972 were reported at the annual meeting of Medalist Industries, Inc.

Medalist is a leader in the athletic and leisure field, and operates Caproco Inc. of Sikeston, Mo.

President Norman J. Fischer said sales had increased 30 per cent in the first quarter, from $8,500,000 to $11,000,000. Profits increased 44 per cent from $239,000 in 1971 to $344,000 in the first quarter of 1972.

At the same time, Fischer said earnings per share rose from 20 to 28 cents.

Robert C. Daly, vice president in charge of the company's leisure division, will relinquish those duties to take over a newly created post of vice president, public relations.

Government Wants X-Ray Vans Parked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government wants states to take their chest X-ray vans off the roads because it says the risk of overexposure to radiation is greater than the benefits of finding a few cases of tuberculosis.

Dr. Merlin K. DuVal, assistant secretary of health, education and welfare, said in a statement Sunday: "The use of mobile equipment, which requires relatively higher levels of X-ray exposure than fixed equipment, simply cannot be justified."

TB "is now almost nonexistent in many regions of the country," he added, and the government recommends using skin tests to check for the disease and X-rays only for people with positive skin tests on in high-risk groups.

The Food and Drug Administration, which prepared the policy statement, said fewer than 28 states still use the mobile Xray vans.

The government said the number of new TB cases in the nation dropped from about 64,000 in 1958 to 39,000 in 1969, and mass screening programs turn up active tuberculosis in fewer than 1-20 of 1 per cent of the people tested.

Seven Arrests

Police announced seven arrests over the weekend:

Mary L. Johnson, route two, was charged with careless and imprudent driving, Walter Leroy Frankum, 1718 Oklahoma, with disturbing the peace; Adolph Dobbs, 108 Luther, with destroying private property.

What's The Law

No Malice In Wifely Deception

When Herman's talkative wife wouldn't let him get a word in sledgwise, Herman left home and moved in with his girl friend Betty. She not only permitted him to talk, she also permitted him to have several children with her. Ultimately, however, Herman talked himself out and he died.

His wife, however, never slowed down. When she heard that Herman died and that Betty was applying for Social Security benefits for Herman's children as his wife and, further, that she was seeking to collect the proceeds of a life insurance in which Herman had named Betty as his "Mrs." and beneficiary, she started an action against Betty for defamation of character.

"She's a fake and a fraud," insisted Herman's widow in court. "For years, Betty has been maliciously defaming me by holding herself out as Herman's wife when, in fact. I was his wife. And, obviously, since a man can only have one spouse, I was made to look foolish and ridiculous in the community because of her willful and deceitful masquerade."

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that in holding herself out as Herman's wife, Betty had committed no unlawful act or one which, in and of itself, could be characterized as the infliction of intentional harm to Herman's real wife. A woman, observed the judge in effect, would naturally prefer to be known as a man's wife and not his paramour. Thus, concluded the judge, in holding herself out as Herman's wife, Betty obviously acted out of guilt rather than malice. (Based upon a 1968 New York Supreme Court Decision)

10-Run Ninth For Astros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'll take a four-run lead entering the ninth inning anytime," San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox said.

The Giants had it Sunday—a 7-3 edge over Houston with three outs to go. But they couldn't get those final three before the Astros got 10 runs.

"I'm not surprised by all the runs Houston is scoring," Fox said after the Astros' 13-7 triumph. "They're the most imrpoved club in the league...We scored seven runs so it's up to our pitchers to hold 'em."

In Sunday's over National League action, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs 8-2 and 7-6 in 12 innings; St. Louis handed Montreal its first defeat 6-1; San Diego edged Los Angeles 2-1, and, in a pair of 11-inning games, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 5-4 and Atlanta overhauled Cincinnati 4-3.

Lee May highlighted the Astros' rally with a three-run homer that put Houston ahead 8-7. "That's more hits than I get in a week," he said of the eight-hit, ninth-inning against three San Francisco hurlers.

Successive home runs in the fifth inning by Cleon Jones and Jim Fregosi carried the Mets to their opening-game triumph, and Jim Beauchamp's pinch single drove in the winning run in the extra-inning nightcap.

The tall right-hander scattered five Montreal hits while his St. Louis batterymate, Ted Simmons, gave him all the runs he needed with a two-run single in the first inning.

Clay Kirby went the route for the Padres, scattering six hits to end the Dodgers' six-game winning streak. Derrel Thomas gave him the winning run with a tie-breaking bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth inning.

In the top of the ninth, with the Phils leading 3-2, Luzinski misplayed Richie Hebner's fly ball to left field, allowing it to drop for a double that enabled Pittsburgh to score a pair of runs.

But in the bottom of the ninth, he atoned for his misplay, unloading a towering homer that tied the score 4-4. And in the 11th, he slammed a triple, then raced home with the winning run on pinch-hitter Tommy Hutton's two-out single.

In Atlanta, the Braves also gave, then took back, allowing the Reds to score a pair of runs in the top of the 11th, then charging back for three in the bottom of the inning.

Hank Aaron's second homer of the season and 641st of his career brought the Braves an eighth-inning 1-1 tie and Darrell Evans' solo shot with two out in the 11th started them back toward victory.

Rookie Shows Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The modern day version of Darwin's theory of evolution is happening in St. Paul-Minneapolis. Bobby Darwin has evolved from a pitcher to a hitter.

"You can't make a mistake on him, he's just too strong," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams after Darwin burned the A's with two-run homer in Minnesota's 8-4 victory Sunday.

From hitting batters in the minor leagues, the Twins' 29year-old rookie sensation has gone to hitting pitchers. He's had four home runs in five games this season.

Before his turnabout, Darwin worked on the mound for eight years in the farm systems of the California Angels, Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers. He switched to the outfield in 1970 and realized his hitting potential right away, striking 40 home runs in two seasons of minor league ball in the Dodger's chain. He also hit one homer in 20 at-bats as a major leaguer.

The swinging outfielder caught the attention of Minnesota scouts and the Twins obtained Darwin on Oct. 22, 1971 in a trade for outfielder Paul Ray Powell.

In other American League games Sunday, the Texas Rangers defeated California 5-2; the Chicago White Sox nipped the Kansas City Royals 3-2; the Cleveland Indians downed the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Detroit Tigers 3-0. The New York Yankees' game at Boston was rained out.

Darwin's blast in the second inning wiped out a 1-0 Oakland edge and started the Twins on their way. The outfielder later got another hit to give him nine in 18 at-bats. He's knocked in 10 runs.

Veteran Don Mincher blasted a three-run homer in the first inning and Horacio Pina pitched three-hit shutout relief for six innings as Texas beat California for the third straight time.

Dick Allen knocked in two early runs with a home run and triple, then scored the gamewinner on an infield error in the eighth as Chicago beat Kansas City.

Gaylord Perry scattered seven hits and cracked a double to ignite a third-inning rally that carried Cleveland past Baltimore.

George Scott's two-run double and a solo shot by Billy Conigliaro carried Milwaukee past Detroit.

Spinks Ends Skid

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, led by newly acquired righthander Scipio Spinks, pulled out of a slump Sunday by toppling the leagueleading Expos, 6-1.

Spinks, acquired from Houston last week in a trade for Leftie Jerry Reuss, pitched five-hit ball to hand the Expos their first loss. The Cards are now 2-6.

"He didn't strain himself. He was strong all the way," pitching coach Barney Schultz said of Spinks performance. "We'll give him five days before his next start."

It was Spinks' second major league victory and he contributed two hits and an RBI to the Cards eight-hit attack.

St. Louis pushed across a pair of runs in the first. Matty Alou and Ted Sizemore walked, Joe Torre was intentionally walked by Steve Renko, and then Ted Sizemore delivered a two-run single.

In the eighth the Redbirds exploded for four more. Simmons led off with a single but was forced at second by Jose Cruz. Lou Brock singled to right, moving Cruz to third. Cruz scored when Ron Hunt dropped the ball on an attempted pickoff play at second.

Pinch-hitter Donn Clendenon walked and Spinks got his second hit of the game to score Brock. Alou and Joe Hague then smashed run-scoring hits to finish the St. Louis scoring.

The Expos scored their only run in the eighth on a walk, ground out and Ron Fairly's single to left.

"We didn't play that well," said Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, "but we got some hitting for a change....maybe we're out of our slump."

SEMO State Signs Holden Cage Star

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State College may not have the tallest basketball team around next season, but the Indians should not be hurting for height as much as they have in recent years, as a third 6-5 player has decided to cast his lot with the Tribe next fall.

He is Gary Pirch of Holden, Mo., who averaged 23.6 points and 16 rebounds per game during the past season at Holden High School to lead the West Central Conference in both categories.

Pirch will be joined in the Indian camp by a 6-5 transfer from Southern Baptist Junior College, Sam Hill of Cooter, Mo., and by freshman Pat McCoy of O'Fallon, Ill., who lists his height at 6-5½.

And all will play alongside returning letterman Dennis Martiz, 6-6, giving Coach Bob Cradic considerably more height to work with than he had during his first two years as head coach at Southeast Missouri.

Pirch scored 1,160 points during his high school career and had a single game high of 40. He was all-conference as both a junior and senior, all-district as a senior, and was voted the "All-Around Athlete" at Holden.

This past season he hit on 54 per cent of his shots from the field and was a 77 per cent free throw shooter.

In addition to basketball, Pirch is a track performer. He placed fourth in the high jump at the state outdoor meet last year and third in the state indoor meet this year.

"Gary has the assets to make a truly fine college forward as he is quick, a real outstanding jumper, and he can shoot from 20 feet," Coach Cradic said. "I am really looking forward to working with him, as I feel that if he is willing to work hard, he is going to have a fine future here at Cape."

Cradic has now signed four players for next year to fill the gaps left by graduation. The other is 6-2 Mike Morrow, an all-star from Kelly High School in Benton.

WOES OF A COACH

Oklahoma State basketball coach Sam Aubrey said he slept just like a baby after his team's 83-62 loss to Colorado early this season: "I would sleep an hour, then wake up and cry for an hour."

Frala Resigns

COLUMBIA – Bob Frala, freshman football coach at Missouri for six years, is leaving the coaching ranks to take over leadership of a construction firm.

Frala has accepted a position as president of the CEMO Paving Company in Jefferson City, effective May 1.

"It's a decision I made late in February, but felt it was in Missouri's best interests to delay the announcement until after our National letter- of- intent signing date," Frala said.

Terminating a 20- year coaching career -- 15 of these as a head coach -- Frala admits to "mixed emotions" in undertaking his new role.

"You can't dedicate 20 years of your life to coaching, and just walk away," he said. "I have thoroughly enjoyed my association with Missouri, Al Onofrio, the staff and players, and friends we've made here. I wish them all well."

Onofrio indicated that Frala's successor would be announced within a few days. The Tiger coach lauded Frala for "his outstanding job with our freshman program."

It was Onofrio, impressed with Frala's outstanding prep record at Belleville, Ill., who recommended him for the Tiger freshman job six years ago.

"Bob really organized and elevated our freshman program," Onofrio said. "We are losing a very capable coach who has made a fine crontribution here. We wish him continued success in his new field."

Frala developed Belleville high teams into a state powerhouse. They won four league titles, a mythical state championship in 1964 -- and that team earned him Illinois Coach- of- the- Year honors.

His seven- year record there was 51-17-3. Thirty of his athletes received college scholarships.

A graduate of Illinois where he played quarterback, Frala later was a freshman backfield coach for the Illini before entering service. He also coached football and basketball while in service, directing a 1955 Army team to the East Coast championship.

Frala was hired by Missouri in 1966, and his overall freshman mark was 17-7.

Mizzou Signs Turner

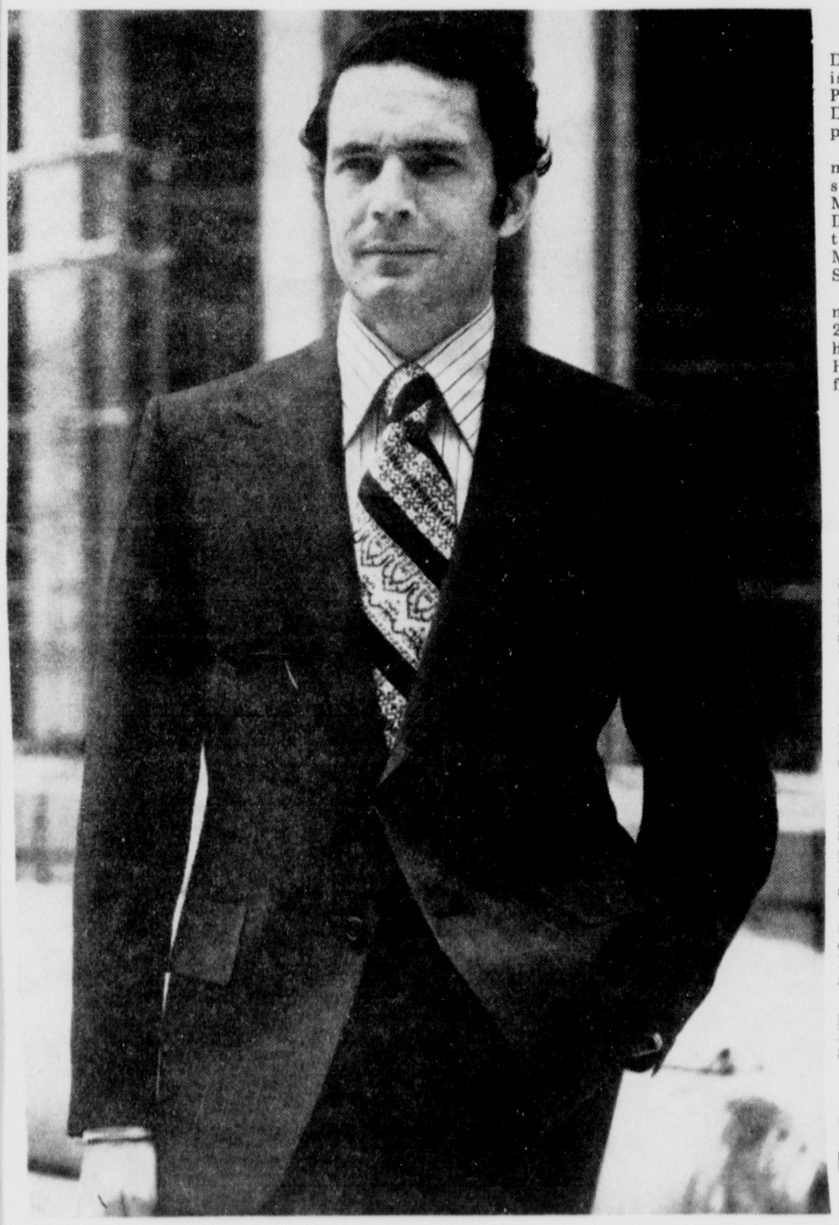

COLUMBIA -- Tiger basketball coach Norm Stewart announced today the signing of Lamont Turner to a national letter- of- intent to attend the University of Missouri.

Turner, one of the most highly sought athletes in the St. Louis area, was named to several all- America lists this season after averaging 24 points and 15 rebounds a game for Vashon High School.

"Lamont established himself as one of the outstanding high school players in Missouri and also gained national recognition this past season. We anticipate him being a major factor in continuing our winning tradition," Stewart said.

Two years ago, Turner led Vashon to the state championship and a 22-2 record while averaging 26 points and 15 rebounds per game. The 6-8, 200 pounder has twice been named all- city, all- metro and all- state in Missouri. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Turner

Ryun On Comeback Trail

Ryun, hitting a comback trail he hopes will lead to an Olympic Gold Medal, outran a classy field Saturday to win the Glenn Cunningham Mile in the Kansas Relays in 3 minutes 57.1 seconds.

Ryun, now with 29 competitive sub-four-minute miles to his credit, was asked about his Olympic preparation timetable after the race and replied:

"I feel like I'm making some progress. A time of 3:57 is right on pace for the Olympic Trials."

If Ryun, who emerged from retirement of some 18 months little more than a year ago, makes the Olympic Trials, he will compete in the 1,500 meters in which he holds the world record. He also has the world's best times ever in the mile and the one-half mile.

It was Ryun's first clocking under four minutes in 11 months. He has had some recent disappointing performances, including a 4:19.6 timing in Los Angeles several weeks ago.

Ryun doesn't know right now when he will run again. He said he plans to sit down with Bob Timmons, the Kansas track coach under whom Ryun is training, and work out a schedule. In all probability, Ryun will compete in the Drake Relays this week but he has made no commitment.

Ryun, admittedly bothered by the delay in the race's start, was pleased that he was able to resvond to the brief challenge of Tom Von Ruden of the Pacific Coast Track Club on the last lap which Ryun ran in 53.8.

"I didn't particularly feel good in the race at all," Ryun said. "On the final lap, I began to move and I felt good then. If I could have done 3:55, it would have been great. I though I'd run faster."

Von Ruden, who finished second in 3:57.9, said, "It's impossible to hear the roar Jim got before the race and run a 4:19. There's no doubt in my mind that he's as good or better physically than he's ever been. I thought Jim ran a great race."

The meet record crowd of 32,000 broke into bedlam as Ryun, who achieved greateness under Timmons as a Kansas athlete, burst into the lead at the start.

Ryun dropped behind a couple of times before streaking ahead by six yards coming into the stretch and held that advantage the rest of the way.

"Yes, 3:57 is right on pace for the Olympic Trials. ..." Ryun concluded.

Four records were set Saturday in the open, university and college divisions. In all, six records were set during the four days and one tied.

Al Feurbach of the Pacific Coast Club broke the meet mark in the open shot put with a throw of 69 feet, one inch. He beat world record holder Randy Matson of the Texas Striders, who could do no better than 68-3 1/4. Matson set the old record of 68-3 1/2 in 1971.

Herb Washington of Michigan State bettered the record with his running of the open 100-yard dash in 9.2 seconds. The former mark of 9.3 was shared by three athletes.

Barry Schur of Kansas high jumped seven feet, one inch, breaking the 7-0 1/4 by Fernando Abugattas of Northwestern Iowain 1969.

Mitchell Claims Tournament Title

The obscure Mitchell, who had complained earlier in the week that sports writers "seem to think I'm invisible—nobody ever writes about me," had just beaten pro golf's most feared competitor in a suddendeath playoff for the title in the prestigious Tournament of Champions.

The 29-year-old Mitchell rolled in a 20-foot putt on the first extra hole Sunday and beat heavily favored Jack Nicklaus for only his second victory in a pro career that dates back to the time he was a youth of 15 in Danville, Va.

"It's a great feeling," exclaimed Mitchell, who collected $33,000 from the total purse of $165,000. "It was a wonderful feeling when I won at Cleveland last year (his first tour triumph). But this was even better because I beat all the champs."

The Tournament of Champions is restricted to players who scored regular pro tour victories in the last 12 months. The awesome Nicklaus, who took the Masters and two other titles already this season, was a 4-1 favorite to successfully defend his title here.

But the odds went for nothing when Nicklaus pulled his tee shot on the par three 14th—the first playoff hole—into the deep rough and chipped six feet past.

Mitchell shot a final round 70 on the long, tough La Costa Country Club course and tied Nicklaus with a 72 hole total of 280.

Lee Trevino was third with a 72—282. Australian Bruce Crampton, Homero Blancas, Jerry Heard and Dave Hill tied at 284. Hill and Heard matched 72s, Crampton took a 71 and Blancas closed with the day's best round, a 67.

Nicklaus started the day with a two stroke lead and lost it on the fifth hole when he put his tee shot in a brook, reached the green in three and three-putted for a double bogey six. That put him in a tie with Mitchell.

Mitchell then took the lead with a birdie on the eighth, stroking a sand wedge to five feet. He lost it with a bogey from a trap on the 14th, but got it back again on the next hole, hitting a beautiful iron shot to five feet.

He lost it again on the 17th, when he made a three-putt bogey, missing the second from two feet.

BROOKVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Larry Young, an Olympic medal winner in Mexico City in 1968, says he may double in the 20-kilometer walk as well as his specialty, the 50-kilometer, in the Games in Munich, Germany this summer.

Young, who says he needs speed work, finished first Sunday in the National Amateur Athletic Union Senior 20-kilometer event at C. W. Post College. His time was 1 hour, 32 minutes, 43.1 seconds. He was almost 200 yards in front of Ron Daniel of the New York Athletic club, who finished second.

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — Rain over the weekend forced postponement of the pro-am nationals drag races at Rockingham International Dragway. The races have been rescheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

LIVERPOL, England, (AP) — Dick Crawshaw strode to what he claimed was a world record non-stop walking championship Sunday—230.9 miles in 67 hours, five minutes.

The 54-year-old Crawshaw, topped the old European record of 201.13 miles after plodding round the motorcycle track for 56 hours.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis soccer stars announced Sunday they have signed John Sewell of the English Football League. Sewell, 31, played right back and was captain of the Crystal Palace team of London.

National League baseball teams have drawn 73,838,789 paying customers during the past five seasons. Attendance is up 29.7 per cent since 1940, while the U.S. population has increased only 54.2 per cent.

Knicks Rally

BOSTON (AP) — "We didn't panic," explained New York Knick forward Dave DeBusschere, "and that was the ball game."

Not only was it the ball game, but it also was the series.

The Knicks moved into the finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs Sunday after overcoming a 14-0 deficit and defeating the Boston Celtics 111-103, taking the Eastern Conference championship 4-1.

The Knicks will open the best-of-seven title series in Los Angeles Wednesday against the Western Conference champion Lakers.

"We had patience," said DeBusschere, who led the balanced New York attack with 24 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. "A lesser team at that point might have panicked. We pecked away, came back, and before you knew it we were within four or five points. Once we get there, we're back in the game."

The Celtics roared off to a 140 lead with 3:34 gone and looked like they were about to run the Knicks out of Boston Garden. New York did not get on the scoreboard until 3:45 when Bill Bradley scored on a lay-up. The Knicks fought back, however, thanks mostly to eight points by Jerry Lucas, and trailed only 27-23 at the end fo the quarter.

The Knicks, who played all but the first 1:46 of the second period without DeBusschere, who picked up his third personal foul, tied the game at 34-34 with 7:38 remaining in the half. The lead switched hands five times before the Celtics took over and moved out to a 55-50 advantage at intermission.

In the third quarter, however, DeBusschere took over, despite an early fourth personal foul, and scored 18 of his 24 points as the Knicks moved out to an 83-79 advantage.

The closest the Celtics could come after that was within three, 96-93, with 5:20 remaining in the game. DeBusschere then hit four free throws and Lucas one around a Don Nelson basket as the Knicks moved ahead 101-95 with 2:41 remaining. From that point on they never led by less than six.

"Holzman's done a heck of a job with that club," said Boston's John Havlicek, who led all scorers with 3[illegible] points.

Bucks Toppled

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks' National Basketball Association championship reign is over, but they aren't quite ready to concede they lost to a better team.

The Los Angeles Lakers may well have been the hungrier team, Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin admitted. And no one could be craving the championship more than the Lakers' Jerry West, who never has savored one in his brilliant 12-year career.

West had missed all seven of his shots in the third quarter Saturday. But he came back to score 12 points in the last 5 1/2 minutes of the fourth period as the Lakers overcame a 10-point deficit and beat the Bucks 104100 to clinch the Western Conference playoffs in six games.

The Lakers, who defeated Milwaukee eight times in 11 meetings this season, will meet the New York Knicks in the playoff finals starting Wednesday at Los Angeles.

"This time of year, all teams are great and the team that is hungriest is going to win," McGlocklin said. "I felt all along last year that we would win.

"I think the ability's here, but there was a completely different feeling to me as a player this year," he said.

The Bucks noted, however, they had been called for 147 fouls to the Lakers' 108, enabling Los Angeles to sink 150 of 219 free throws to the Bucks' 100 of 132 for the series.

West, a nearly 48-per-cent shooter during the regular season, sank only 47 of 135 shots for less than 35 per cent in the series.

Gail Goodrich, who with West gave the Lakers 43 points from their starting guards, credited a stiffened defense anchored by Wilt Chamberlain. Besides his series-high 20 points, Chamberlain grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked nine shots.

Milwaukee's Kareem Abdul Jabbar led all-scorers with 37 points, but Chamberlain pressured him into missing 21 of 37 shots.

Tigers Get King

COLUMBIA -- Kevin King, a 6-2 guard from CBC High School in St. Louis has signed a national letter- of- intent to attend the University of Missouri, Tiger coach Norm Stewart announced today.

An all- suburban, all- metro and all- state performer, King averaged 21 points per game this past season and set a school record with 105 assists. A member of the national honor society, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. "Buzz" King.

"Kevin is one of the outstanding players in the St. Louis area. With his quickness and passing ability, he'll be a definite asset to our basketball program," Stewart said.

Stars Take Advantage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The home-court advantage returns to the defending American Basketball Association champions, the Utah Stars, tonight as they meet the Indiana Pacers in the fifth game their best-of-seven series for the Western Division title.

The series was tied 2-2 Saturday night when Indiana rallied in the fourth quarter and defeated Utah 118-108. Indiana won both its home games and Utah won the first two games in Salt Lake City.

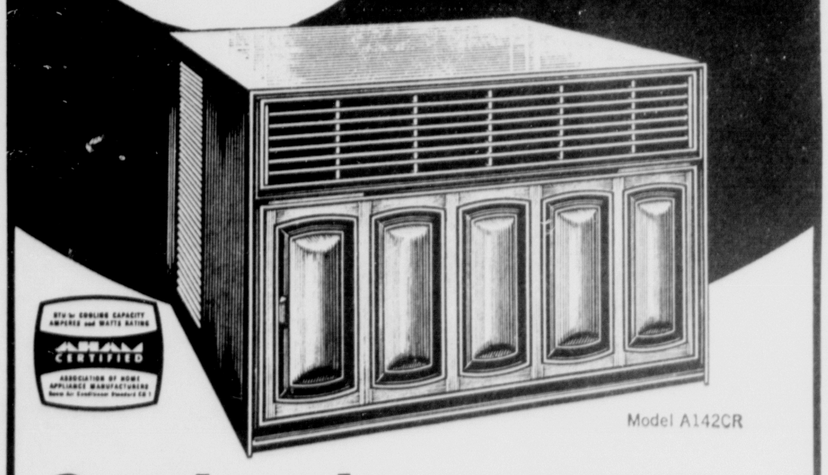

In other ABA action tonight, the Virginia Squires, leading 2-0 in the Eastern Division semi-final, travel to New York to take on the Nets once again.

Indiana's Roger Brown led all scorers with 29 points, including three three-point goals.

Willie Wise hit 13 for Utah in the first period and wound up with 25, but got only two in the final period. Jimmy Jones scored 24 points. His 14 thirdquarter points kept the Stars within reach, but he got only one point in the final period.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, April 24, the 115th day of 1972. There are 251 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1704, the first American newspaper printed on a regular basis, the Boston News Letter, was published for the first time.

On this date:

In 1743, the Englishman who invented the power loom, EdmundCartwright, was born.

In 1800, the U.S. Congress appropriated $5,000 to create the Library of Congress.

In 1877, Northern rule in the South ended as federal troops were ordered removed from New Orleans.

In 1916, the Easter Rebellion broke out in Dublin, Ireland.

In 1953, Sir Winston Churchill was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II.

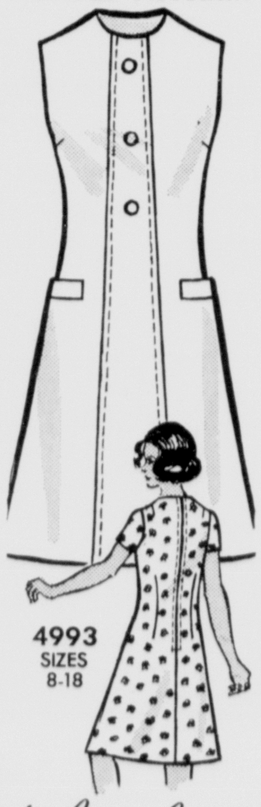

Ten years ago: President Jose Maria Guido of Argentina announced that he had voided provincial elections in which supporters of exiled ex-dictator Juan Peron made a good showing.

Bootheel Potential Supplier

The Bootheel has the potential of becoming a major supplier of beef to the American consumer, according to a report presented to the Southeast Missouri Cattlemen's Association.

The report says the Bootheel can support 500,000 cows in backgrounding, or winter pasturing, operations. Backgrounding means taking a calf from the cow when it weighs 350 to 400 pounds, adding 200 to 250 pounds and selling it to a feedlot.

This could result in an additional $30,000,000 being pumped into the Bootheel economy without the loss of any cropland.

The Bootheel is well- suited for backgrounding operations, the report says , because of the large quantities of crop residues being wasted, plentiful supplies of small grains and cover crops for winter pasture, and good supplies of winter labor.

The cash crops grown in the Delta leave large amounts of unsalable stalks and roughage, which the farmer normally has to plow under to dispose of.

The beef cow is well- suited to salvage crop residues, the report says. "She can forage for and consume substantial amounts of low- quality rougages that have little or no salable value," it adds.

Labor requirements are low, only about six hours per year per cow, according to a Universtiy of Missouri study.

Benefits the farmer could realize from the adding cows include, helping pay for the fixed costs of unused crop machinery, buildings, and land, which cannot be cropped; market forages produced on land not suitable for row crops; market crop residues following production of row crops; provide work for hired labor in the winter; and possibly provide better utilization of set- aside or layout land.

"Facilities need not be expensive or elaborate for the backgrounding enterprise," the report says. The cost of the minimum facilities needed for handling 100 head of feeder calves is estimated at $1,000, depreciated over seven years.

The study concluded adequate markets are available present production, but new markets will have to be developed if Bootheel production increases substantially.

But it shouldn't be too difficult to find these new markets. Projections show the United States will need to expand its beef herd by nine to 10 million head by 1980 to meet increased consumer demand.

Spring Week On Campus Next Week

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Student Activities Council at Southeast Missouri State College is hoping the "April showers" of late will end their "reign" over outdoor activities just a little bit ahead of schedule.

That's because SAC has scheduled its annual Spring Week on the campus for next week, and among the activities on tap for the student body are six which are supposed to take place out- of - doors.

But SAC has contingency plans just in case.

The cartoon show planned for the terraces west of Academic Hall on Tuesday night will be held in the ballroom of Memorial Hall in the event of rain. Horror movies scheduled for the band field on Thursday night will be moved to North Hall of Science, if the need arises.

The auditorium of Academic Hall has been reserved in case the weather interferes with a three- band concert on the terraces Friday. And, if need be, it will be back to Memorial Hall ballroom for a parking lot "hot pants- muscle shirt" dance scheduled to conclude the week's activities the evening of Saturday.

If the rains come, however, there is not much SAC can do about the other two outdoor activities planned. These are recreational games and sports scheduled to kick- off the week Sunday from 1:30-4:30 on the playing fields on the north side of the campus, and a parachute jump by a military team at noon Saturday. The latter event has not been definitely firmed up however.

Other activities from which students may choose during the week include a spaghetti supper Sunday from 4-8 in Memorial Hall ballroom sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi business fraternity; a Monday night concert at 8 in Academic Hall auditorium by the DeCormier Singers followed by a reception for the group in Memorial Hall ballroom; a coffeehouse in Memorial Hall at 8 Wednesday evening; and a symphony band concert at 8 Thursday evening in Academic Hall auditorium.

Also scheduled is the annual Trivia Bowl, during which student teams find out which knows the most minutia, from 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Saturday, and the College Theatre's production of "Marat/Sade" on Monday through Thursday nights.

All told, it seems unlikely that the familiar cry of "nothing to do" will have any validity during Spring Week.

Singers Will Give Concert Monday Night

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The Cape Girardeau Community Concert Association, planning its series of programs for next year, had placed the DeCormier Singers high on the list. One association official said the singers were the planning committee's first choice.

Now members of the association won't have to wait until the next concert season to hear the singers, described as one of the top American touring groups. For the DeCormier Singers have been substituted for the Israel Rinat Choir, which had been scheduled to present the next program in this season's series Monday at Southeast Missouri State college.

The date will remain the same, and the concert will be presented in the auditorium of Academic Hall at Southeast Missouri State, beginning at 8 p.m.

It is open to Southeast Missouri State students, members of the Cape Girardeau Community Concert Association, and members of other area associations which have reciprocity agreements with the Cape group.

There are no open ticket sales, and no seats are reserved.

Professor's Paper Wins Youden Prize

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The chemical division of the American Society for Quality control has chosen a paper co-authored by Dr. Harold W. Hager, professor of mathematics at Southeast Missouri State College, for the Jack Youden Prize for 1971.

The award is presented for the best expository paper appearing in Technometrics each year. Technometrics is a journal of statistics for the physical, chemical and engineering sciences published by the American Society for Quality Control and the American Statistical Association.

Dr. Hager's paper appeared in the August, 1971, issue. It was entitled "Reliability Estimation for the Generalized Gamma Distribution and Robustness of the Weibull Model." Co-authors were Dr. Lee J. Bain of the University of Missouri-- Rolla and Dr. Charles E. Antle of pennsylvania State University.

A 1953 graduate of Southeast Missouri State, Dr. Hager has been a member of the faculty since 1957.

P.E. Workshop Set Tuesday

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- "An Innovative Physical Education Curriculum -- Individualized Instruction" Will be the theme on a physical education workshop Tuesday at Southeast Missouri State college.

The workshop from 6:30 p.m - 9:30 p.m. in Houck Field House on the campus is sponsored by the Physical Education Department of the Southeast Missouri Teachers Association.

Thal Thrower, president of the department and a supervisor at College High School, said the program is open to area teachers, administrators, and students.

The speaker will be Robert D. Shader of the Omaha public schools.

Hayti Will Add Acres

HAYTI -- An annexation resolution read by City Attorney James A. Vickrey, was approved by the Hayti city council Monday night. The annexation would include a major chunk of property on the eastern outskirts of Hayti as well as a small portion on the southern and northern outskirts.

Before the annexation can take place, according to the resolution, the city must get a declaratory judgement in Pemiscot County Circuit Court which means, according to Vickrey, "the court must pass on the legality of the annexation".

After the declaratory judgement, an election must be held in Hayti where a simple majority is required for passage of the annexation proposal. A total of approximately 120 acres will be included in the annexation proposal.

In other business, alderman Dale Williams was nominated by alderman H. R. Euell to be president of the city council in the absence of the mayor. The motion, seconded by alderman John Turnage, was unanimously approved.

City treasurer Phil Bowen, water superintendent Ralph Abernathy, street superintendent Harry Garner, and fire chief Bob Bivens were reappointed by the council.

The council discussed what to do about the old Kohn building on the west side of the city square. The building, owned by Mrs. Freda Kines, has been condemned for some time. No decision was made.

One bid was received for radar grader tires. The bid, from Hayti Auto and Tractor parts Inc., was $153.53 for two 1300 by 24 eight ply tires with 10 percent less state net price, $176. 23 less 20 percent state net price for four 1400 by 24 ten ply tires, and $12.38 (state net price) for tubes.

Bidding for the tires will be open until May 1 and limited to Hayti businesses only.

Mayor Harry Dowdy signed a proclamation proclaiming the week from May 1 to May 6 as Clean-up, Paint-up, and Fix-up Week in Hayti.

The proclamation asked all citizens to cooperate in making Hayti more beautiful and cleaner, making Hayti as attractive as possible to induce more industry to locate in the city, improving all property, private, rental, and business, and to have a better outlook on life by living in a city made clean and beautiful for future generations.

Motorists Urged To Keep Alert

JEFFERSON CITY -- Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, today urged motorists to be attentive when they drive.

"Inattention on the part of drivers plays a major role in many traffic accidents," Hockaday stated. "While motorists may be subjected to many distractions when operating their vehicles, they are still responsible for not permitting them to lead to inattention and neglect of the primary job of driving safely.

"It isn't necessary for a driver to keep his eyes glued to the road, excluding all else from sight and hearing," he continued. "It is possible, however, to avoid certain acts that may lead to trouble."

The Patrol Superintendent urged motorists to avoid the following acts when behind the wheel: 1. Daydreaming. 2. Looking at passengers while driving. 3. Looking out the rear view mirror for a long period of time. 4. Checking maps or the next stop. 5. Searching for something on the floor while in motion.

"Motorists must realize that driving is a full- time job," Hockaday concluded. "They must give their full attention to what is going on in traffic and do their best to avoid any act that may lead to inattention."

New Store In Scott City

SCOTT CITY -- Plans were made this past week for the leasing of the former Western Auto Building for the opening of a new Western Auto Store by Claud Mize of Bernie.

The building is owned by Meridian Investment Corp. and negotiations handled for that firm by Ron Kelsey, president. Mr. Kelsey announced that the present H & R Block Income Tax Service will move to his firm adjoining Scott City Office Center Building, which also is the headquarters for Key Realty Company. Some addition may be made to the office center to house the three business firms of Key Realty, Meridian Investment Corp. and H &R Block.

Mize expects to move to the area and will attend a two week Dealer Training School at Western Auto Headquarters in Kansas City starting May 1 and then will begin setting up the new store May 15, ready for its opening about June 1.

Kelsey mentioned that these changes and the New Scott City Bank drive- in facility are signs of continued commercial progress for the area.

Fishing Days At Mall

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be fishing days at the Kingsway Plaza Mall with fishing gear and bait furnished.

Anyone will be allowed to fish for rainbow trout for 10 minutes on payment of a fee. Fishing will begin at 11 a.m.

River Ferries Still Running

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The ferries at Caruthersville, Cottonwood Point and Tiptonville were running Saturday although the Powell Ferry at Caruthersville is expected to run only for the next two days until the high waters force it to close.

The other two ferries are expected to keep running until the river stage reaches 33 feet. The river at Caruthersville stood at 32.1 feet this morning, a six-tenths of a foot rise from yesterday. The river is expected to rise to 36.7 feet by next Wednesday, authorities said.

AFTER A SPRING RAIN

As my Lady's laundry very bright and clean,
Nature's handiwork in the sunshine gleams,
Washed and bathed in the spring rains,
Riverlets running, overflowing drains,

Children wading, shouts of joy,
Mothers calling, girls and boys,
The busily humming bees,
Birds singing in the trees
Musical notes and sweet melody,
Sounds of Universal harmony.

The beauty of the countryside,
In patchwork patterns far and wide,
The newly planted and plowed ground,
Rich colors of greys, blacks, and browns.
Bordered, and so perfectly placed in between
Many hues of variegated green.

Flower gardens the sweetest perfume,
Roses red, pink, and yellow in bloom,
Lacework of shadows just right,
O Lord, what a lovely sight.
Overall a sky of azure blue,
The artisans canvas on review.

MOORE'S

CONNOR®

Dreams Come True With Connor's Valencia 6 ft. Starter Kitchen

Less Top & Fitting

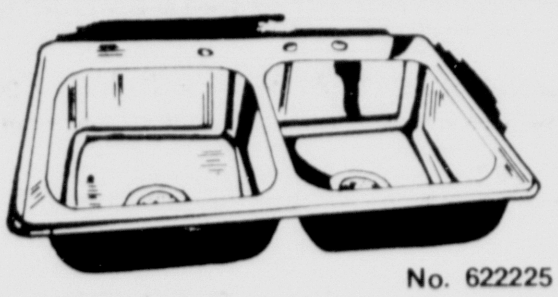

Why settle for less than real wood in your new kitchen? Connor Kitchens are backed by 100 years of cabinet experience to assure you of the finest craftsmanship in it's class. Valencia features a lustrous Nutmeg finish with sculptured doors and antique brass hardware. 3 coats of baked-on finish virtually resists all kinds of scuffs and stains. Solid core doors and feather-touch drawers that glide on nylon rollers (and close quietly on cushioned frames w/magnetic catches) make this the kitchen you've dreamed of owning in your home!
